SUB Measure Nearly Ready For DiSalle OK

Emergency Is Denied; Opponents Still May Take Issue to Polls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The red-hot supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) act may be ready for Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's signature today—but not as an emergency measure.

Lack of an emergency clause could open the issue to a vote of the people—a referendum—but opponents of SUB won't say definitely whether a referendum will be sought.

They have 90 days after DiSalle's expected signature to file petitions asking the referendum. They would be required to present 197,000 valid signatures to get the issue on the ballot.

The bill to legalize simultaneous SUB and state jobless benefits passed the House 100-36 Wednesday after an emergency clause—stricken once in the Senate and reinserted in House committee—again was knocked out by a 75-59 vote. The clause needed 93 votes—two-thirds—to be sustained.

The Senate today is due to receive a motion to reconsider the vote on this session's first defeated bill.

The defeat came to a bill to set the last Monday in May rather than May 30 as the legal Memorial Day in Ohio. It got 15 favorable votes to 14 against, but under constitutional rules it needed 17 to pass.

The Senate passed and sent to the House bills to:

Permit out-of-staters moving into Ohio less than one year before presidential elections to qualify to vote for president even though they have not fulfilled Ohio's one-year residence requirement for voting. The bill would implement a constitutional amendment on the subject adopted by Ohio voters.

Empower the governor to conduct a survey on the need for additional state medical schools.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to permit nonprofit corporations to establish dental care programs.

After two hours of debate nine Republicans and 66 Democrats voted in favor of the ill - fated emergency clause to the SUB bill. On final passage, 73 Democrats and 27 Republicans voted yes. "No" votes were registered by four Democrats and 32 Republicans.

Fred J. Milligan, executive secretary of the Ohio Information Committee composed mainly of employers opposed to SUB, called passage of the bill an attempt "to validate illegal contracts with an unconstitutional law." He questioned constitutionality on grounds the bill would release, retroactively, some 25 million dollars in SUB funds impounded while the issue was being fought in the courts.

The Ohio Supreme Court held several months ago that Ohio law now regards SUB payments from "pooled" funds as remuneration and that SUB payments must be deducted from state jobless benefits.

The AFL-CIO in a prepared statement said after the final vote "It is a harsh trick on the unemployed to deny them SUB payments on an emergency basis. The responsibility for this delay rests primarily on the Republicans."

House Minority Leader Roger Cloud (R-Logan) asserted the whole issue revolves around the fact that employe contributions into pooled SUB funds are not credited as wages when the contributions—generally five cents an hour—are deposited in the fund. He added:

"If, when the contracts were negotiated, the employers had declared them (the contributions) wages paid, I doubt that validity would have been challenged. Payments would have been wages when paid into the fund and not when paid out of the fund."

The Senate confirmed six of DiSalle's appointments including those of Dr. James O. Watson of Upper Arlington and John M. McCann of Youngstown as members of the State Medical Board.

The Senate Public Utilities and Public Works recommended passage of a bill providing for the "humane trapping and disposal" of pigeons in the statehouse yard.

Educational Standards Aired At South Central League Meet

One of the main items of discussion in last night's South Central Ohio League meeting at Columbus was the set of educational standards previously recommended by superintendents of the SCOL.

Meeting at Franklin Heights High School, school officials and coaches of the league heard comments on how the recommendations are being received in the various schools. SCO superintendents met February 4 at Franklin Heights and agreed to make recommendations for consideration and adoption by league boards of education.

Since that time, education boards in Circleville, Washington C. H., Greenfield and Franklin Heights adopted the recommendations. As of last night, Hillsboro has not acted on the measures and Wilmington has not reached a decision.

The educational standards originally were recommended to school superintendents by the State Board of Education. SCO superintendents referred the proposals to their respective boards.

* * *

THE recommendations are: 1. No student to be excused for travel to or participate in an athletic event during regular school hours.

2. Prohibit scheduling of interscholastic events on a night preceding a regular school day. This does not apply to state events such as basketball tournaments.

3. Pupils participating in activities before the public will be required to be passing in four regularly scheduled units of credit.

Most coaches present met in separate session to discuss the proposals. Later they presented a list of problems concerning athletics which might arise if the proposals are adopted by all league schools. Paul Orr of Greenfield acted as spokesman for the coaches.

League superintendents agreed to carry the coaches' outlook on the proposals to their respective boards of education for further consideration.

Indications are that if the standards are not accepted by all league schools, the measures will be rescinded.

Macmillan in Washington For Talks with Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrived today for Berlin strategy talks with President Eisenhower. He is expected to urge Eisenhower to join him in working out more flexible Western policies for forthcoming negotiations with the Soviet Union.

The two will go into their weekend of conferences firmly agreed on the need to resist Soviet threats and pressures aimed at forcing the Western powers out of Berlin. But they are clearly divided on a number of issues involved in preparing for negotiations with the Soviets.

Before heading to Washington from Ottawa, Macmillan expressed confidence his visits to the two capitals "will serve to consolidate and confirm the united will of the Western world."

Eisenhower called Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter and other diplomatic advisers to the White House for discussion of the Berlin situation in preparation for Macmillan's arrival.

The actual talks between the two men will get under way Friday at Camp David, Md., a secluded mountain retreat about 65 miles from Washington.

Although a joint statement early next week may report generally on their talks, detailed practical results of their work may not be disclosed officially until the foreign ministers of the United States Britain, France and the Soviet Union meet this spring. Such a meeting is now being worked out.

One of the differences the two men face is in their attitude toward a summit conference. Macmillan is represented as feeling one is necessary, regardless of any results of the foreign ministers meeting, on the theory that only Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev can speak for his country.

Eisenhower, by contrast, made clear in his broadcast speech Monday night that he feels advance development should "justify a summer meeting at the summit."

Macmillan reportedly believes also that some legal basis other than the World War II right of conquest might be found for keeping U.S., British and French forces in Berlin.

Coal Strike Fuss Headed Into Court

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The eastern Kentucky coal strikes enter a new area today—the courtroom.

The strikes, which have idled more than 7,000 men, already have produced charges of violence and a request for National Guardsmen.

After Gov. A. B. Chandler refused its plea, the Pike County Coal Operators Assn said it will seek relief by asking for a restraining order against the United Mine Workers.

The association, with some 300 members, reaffirmed its decision not to sign the new contract raising the basic wage from $22.25 to $24.25.

"We intend to halt all our mining operations until the court decides on the order," said Robert Holcomb, association president.

It was Holcomb who petitioned the governor for troops but Chandler replied that state police have the situation in hand.

Issue in the strike—it involves Pike, Bell, Harlan, Perry and Letcher counties—go deeper than the wage dispute.

Some operators say the UMW and the large coal firms are trying to put the small owners out of business. They point the finger of suspicion at the protective wage clause, which forbids union mines from buying or processing coal from pits not paying union scale.

Strictly enforced this would squeeze out many small operators who would have no market for their coal.

Juvenile Court Load Rocketing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Preliminary figures indicate that the number of cases reported by Ohio's juvenile courts in 1958 is almost 70 per cent greater than the number reported for 1948.

The 66,630 cases reported last year compare with 39,290 reported 10 years prior.

But 1958 was only the second year in which all 88 counties have been represented in the reports. The other year was 1957.

The figures were released Tuesday by the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

The department said the 1958 figures show that some definite action was taken or some plan of treatment decided upon in all 66,630 cases.

Khrush Urges Wide-Open Talk

Anti-Hitler Nations Asked Help Pen Pact

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev urged today a broad-based conference of all nations which took part in the war against Hitlerism, with the aim of concluding a peace treaty with Germany.

He called attention to President Eisenhower's proposal Monday night that a summit conference might be held this summer if a foreign ministers meeting could start negotiations on the Berlin crisis.

"We appeal to the governments of all nations which took part in the war against Hitlerite Germany to sit down at the negotiation table and settle pressing problems, to conclude a peace treaty with Germany," Khrushchev told a special news conference in the Kremlin.

Khrushchev's tone seemed mild.

Khrushchev made a similar proposal last January in a note to 27 other countries which fought Nazi Germany. The West rejected this, and in turn asked the Soviet Union to take part in a foreign ministers conference in Geneva or Vienna with both East and West Germans in attendance, to prevent the German issues from touching off a new war.

Khrushchev this time seemed to have seized upon President Eisenhower's Monday remark as a starting point for a new attempt to make a summit conference a reality.

"We would like the Western governments, having cast aside the mad threats of their generals and admirals against our country, to sit down at the conference table with us," Khrushchev said.

"If they have sensible proposals to make, we are ready to examine them, together with our own proposals."

He then added that if the West was "seriously ready" for talks, the Soviet Union would not hold up matters.

"We have put forward our proposals for a peace treaty with Germany and for normalizing the situation in Berlin," Khrushchev said. "It is now up to the Western powers. If they are prepared to start talks in real earnest, we would not be found wanting. We shall do everything within our power to make the talks a success."

The Soviet Union's only purpose, he asserted, is "to see to it that the dark clouds of a new war should forever disappear from the international horizon."

Politicians Square Off in Budget Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats and Republicans squared off today for another budget battle likely to have repercussions in next year's election campaigns.

It's over a Democratic-backed airport-aid bill which calls for spending 97 million dollars more than President Eisenhower has recommended.

Republicans are backing a bill following the President's recommendations and providing for a four-year outlay of 200 millions for airport development.

They already have served notice that they will demand a separate roll-call vote on their measure to determine, in the words of GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, "who the spenders are."

Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts told the House there will be a roll-call vote on the Democrats' bill "and it will be interesting to see how Republicans vote."

The bill backed by most Democrats calls for a four year extension of the federal airport-aid program at a cost of 297 million dollars, considerably below the 465 millions already voted by the Senate. It would approve the use of federal funds for airport construction and for the cost of airport terminal space used by federal agencies, such as traffic control towers, weather stations and customs offices.

The administration measure would restrict the use of federal funds to airports and needed safety facilities. It provides for a gradual withdrawal from the airport aid program over the four-year period.

8 Girl Scouts, 2 Mothers Die In Collision

Station Wagon-Train Crash near Xenia Wipes Out Party

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—A freight train plowed into a car carrying 10 passengers and "split it open like a tin can" in a tragic railroad crossing accident near here Wednesday. All 10—including eight Girl Scouts—were killed.

The "tin can" description came from the Rev. Alvin Klotz, one of the first on the scene, who added: "Pepole were strewn over the field. There were two or three near the car but the others were all over."

The car was dragged 50 feet along the tracks before being shoved to one side. One body, that of the driver, Mrs. Lucille White, 44, was found 75 feet beyond the car, indicating the force of the crash.

The daughters of Mrs. White and the other adult in the car, Mrs. Jeanette Randall, 39, were among the eight girls who perished.

The girls were returning home from a library here where they had been studying for merit badges. They lived in Beavercreek Twp., a rural suburb between Xenia and Dayton.

The accident happened about 3½ miles west of Xenia.

Kenneth Ward, father of one Girl Scout, is an auxiliary fireman. He was helping gather up the bodies, unaware that his daughter was a victim, when he recognized what was left of the car. After hunting around, he found the body of his 12-year-old daughter, Linda.

The other girls were Sharon White, Cindy Moorman, Connie Laprise, Patricia Lapinski, Ann North, Paulnetta Randall and Anna Wilvert.

All were 12 years old except Anna who was 11, and the last to die.

Six were killed outright in the crash and three were dead on arrival at the hospital.

W. R. Murray of Columbus, engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad's three-diesel express freight, said he saw the car slow down as it approached the crossing, and he thought it was going to stop. But it kept coming into the train's path, he said.

State Highway Patrolman J. W. Smith said his investigation showed the freight was moving 60 to 70 m.p.h. but a Pennsylvania spokesman pointed out that the speed limit in that area is 50 m.p.h.

The crossing is unprotected by flasher signals and has only a crossbar railroad sign.

Vaughn Lewis, superintendent of Greene County Schools, commented: "The biggest tragedy was that there was no flasher light there. That's a bad crossing and we (the school board) fought for flashers and didn't get it. This is inexcusable in a populated area."

Woman Dies at Age 56, Leaving $40 Million

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Funeral services will be held Friday for Mrs. Muriel McCormick Hubbard, an heiress to both the Rockefeller and McCormick fortunes who served in the U.S. Women's Army Corps during World War II.

She died Wednesday of a heart ailment at the age of 56.

Mrs. Hubbard was the granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller Sr. and Cyrus McCormick, inventor of the reaper. Her personal estate was estimated at 40 million dollars.

Mother, 3 Tots Held as Hostages

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—A 29-year-old mother and her three children were captives today of a crazed, former convict who said he was only interested in "vengeance."

The gunman threatened to torture and kill the four unless authorities released a convict from prison so he could slay the man.

"Only you have the power to save them from certain death, by granting my demands," read the note left behind by a man identified as Richard I. Payne, 23.

State police described Payne as an especially dangerous mental patient.

He left a note behind in his victims' home, addressed to West Virginia Gov. Cecil H. Underwood. In the rambling, five-page tirade, he named another convict, Burton Junior Post, better known as Junior Starcher.

Underwood was flying to Washington to confer with federal highway officials on road construction projects for the state. A State Police spokesman said Underwood had "no comment."

The note said:

"My purpose is to kill and to take the head of my worst enemy, who is now out of reach. He is in the W.Va. Penitentiary at Moundsville."

Payne proposed to use his captives as a wedge to force Starcher's release.

"To save the children," the note read, "I demand only the FBI work on this case."

Payne entered the home of John H. Baldwin, 31, early Wednesday night on the pretense of wanting to use the telephone.

Then he whipped out a pistol and threatened to kill the whole family, Baldwin told police.

The crazed ex-convict bound Baldwin, his wife Elma, 29, and their children, Susan, 5; Danny, 7, and Kenneth, 10. Methodically he gagged each one.

He ignored Mrs. Baldwin's mumbled pleas to release the gag, and composed his wild note addressed to Underwood.

Then he herded the mother and her three frightened children into Baldwin's 1955 model car. Baldwin was left tied up in the family's five-room house. He broke free and notified authorities.

"He said he would kill my wife and torture the children if I called police," Baldwin told authorities.

State police Capt. W. R. Callaghan said Payne was released from the State Penitentiary at Moundsville last week. He had served seven years for an armed robbery in which he shot and wounded a motel owner.

All organizations are asked to send a representative to the meeting and all interested persons are urged to attend.

News Briefs

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—Elizabeth Duncan, smiling and blushing on the witness stand, is fighting death in the gas chamber.

The convicted murderess has begun testimony in her own behalf before a jury which is to decide her penalty—death or life imprisonment.

The jury is the same one which on Monday convicted Mrs. Duncan of masterminding the murder of her attractive daughter-in-law, Olga Duncan, 30.

Mrs. Duncan, 54, was found guilty of hiring Luis Moya and Augustine Baldonado to strangle Olga. The prosecution contended she was so jealous of her 30-year-old son, Frank, that she couldn't bear to lose him to another woman.

The defendant Wednesday answered questions about her 11 marriages breezily, sometimes almost gaily.

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)—A psychiatric examination was scheduled today for a husky 15-year-old who shot his grandmother and maid to death Wednesday.

Charges of murder with malice were filed against the boy, James Stevens Patterson. He was ordered held by juvenile authorities.

The junior high student was quoted as saying he didn't know why he killed his grandmother, Mrs. F. S. Riggs, 77, and Lola Mae Williams, 35, a Negro maid.

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—The attorney general of British Columbia Wednesday night introduced legislation to make it unlawful to "picket or beset" any government building in the province.

This followed by six days the four-hour strike of 11,000 provincial employees which tied up governmental services and was halted when an anti-picketing injunction was issued. A Supreme Court justice is deliberating on the government's request for continuation of the injunction granted last Friday.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic today appeared seeking the support of Lebanon in his fight against Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem and Arab Communists.

The U.A.R. leader and Lebanese President Fuad Chehab have agreed to meet against a background of fresh stirrings in the Middle East growing out of the leftward swing of the Iraqi government.

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—The Tappan Co., manufacturer of kitchen stoves, today announced a $3,700,000 expansion program over the next two years at its plants here and in Murray, Ky.

The Mansfield program includes purchase of land for a new quarter-million-dollar building and construction of a new building to house a steel coil and shear line. The expansion will increase production capacity here by 30 per cent.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The consumer is the chief target this year in campaigns to increase state taxes.

This is shown in a survey which reports that state governments are shooting for more than 1½ billion dollars more in new or increased taxes on their citizens.

The survey findings were announced at the conclusion of a three-day meeting of the National Taxpayers Conference.

The study, covering 25 states, shows sales or income taxes to be the favorite source.

Blasts Set Off 300 Miles Up

Pentagon Holds Mum On Details of Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three nuclear bombs exploded by the United States beyond the earth's atmosphere formed an electronic sheet that circled most of the world.

A responsible official outside the Defense Department said the tests at tremendous altitude were an effort to spread a shield through which missiles could not fly.

Defense Department officials confirmed Wednesday night that the blasts had been set off secretly last September, for both military and scientific test purposes. But they declined to discuss the military angles.

Other sources reported, however that the tests explored the possibility of generating at an altitude of about 300 miles a diffusion of neutrons which would offset the nuclear reaction in missile warheads.

Just how the electronic shield could halt a missile or keep it from exploding was not explained.

The shots were fired from naval craft in the South Atlantic late in September — more than a month before the United States started a one-year suspension of nuclear tests pending negotiations with the Soviet Union on halting all such testing.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles and Dr. Herbert York, director of Pentagon research, gave some details of the test shots after newsmen learned of them from other sources.

They said the explosions were of very low yield in radiation and would not disclose the altitude at which the tests were made. York said there was no radioactive fallout on the earth from the tests.

York said the main objective of the blasts was to test important theories about the trapping of electrons by the earth's magnetic field. He said the detonation of the bombs released electrons into space above the earth's atmosphere, and that the trapping of these by the earth's magnetic field created the great sheet that eventually circled the globe.

The nonmilitary part of the test, York said, was to find out more about the nature and origin of the Van Allen belt of radiation.

The Van Allen belt is a myster-

Utility Strike Negotiations Due Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Another attempt to settle the strike against the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. is scheduled for Friday afternoon, a federal mediator said today.

Some 1,300 employes of the company are in the third week of the strike against the utility firm, which provides electricity for 23 central and southern Ohio counties.

H. J. Montoney, the federal mediator, said he has arranged a session for late afternoon but that he does not know if it will be a joint union-management meeting. "It could develop into that," he said.

Both sides have changed position slightly since contract negotiations were broken off by the strike. Originally, the company offered a flat 3½ per cent general increase. That has been upped to 4½ per cent.

The union originally asked for a six per cent general increase, but since has lowered its demand to about five per cent. The union continues its demand, nowever, for an additional 10-cent hourly boost for top linemen in addition to the general increase.

The company announced it is offering a $5,000 reward for furnishing the firm with information leading to arrest and conviction of anyone threatening in a menacing manner any person working for the company, or member of his family.

Earlier, the compay had offered rewards for arrest and conviction of anyone damaging or destroying company property.

The union today also offered a similar $5,000 reward for arrest and conviction of anyone caught threatening, molesting or intimidating any of their pickets or their families.

The actual talks between the two men will get under way Friday at Camp David, Md., a secluded mountain retreat about 65 miles from Washington.

Although a joint statement early next week may report generally on their talks, detailed practical results of their work may not be disclosed officially until the foreign ministers of the United States Britain, France and the Soviet Union meet this spring. Such a meeting is now being worked out.

One of the differences the two men face is in their attitude toward a summit conference. Macmillan is represented as feeling one is necessary, regardless of any results of the foreign ministers meeting, on the theory that only Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev can speak for his country.

Eisenhower, by contrast, made clear in his broadcast speech Monday night that he feels advance development should "justify a summer meeting at the summit."

Macmillan reportedly believes also that some legal basis other than the World War II right of conquest might be found for keeping U.S., British and French forces in Berlin.

Coal Strike Fuss Headed Into Court

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The eastern Kentucky coal strikes enter a new area today—the courtroom.

The strikes, which have idled more than 7,000 men, already have produced charges of violence and a request for National Guardsmen.

After Gov. A. B. Chandler refused its plea, the Pike County Coal Operators Assn said it will seek relief by asking for a restraining order against the United Mine Workers.

The association, with some 300 members, reaffirmed its decision not to sign the new contract raising the basic wage from $22.25 to $24.25.

"We intend to halt all our mining operations until the court decides on the order," said Robert Holcomb, association president.

It was Holcomb who petitioned the governor for troops but Chandler replied that state police have the situation in hand.

Issue in the strike—it involves Pike, Bell, Harlan, Perry and Letcher counties—go deeper than the wage dispute.

Some operators say the UMW and the large coal firms are trying to put the small owners out of business. They point the finger of suspicion at the protective wage clause, which forbids union mines from buying or processing coal from pits not paying union scale.

Strictly enforced this would squeeze out many small operators who would have no market for their coal.

Juvenile Court Load Rocketing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Preliminary figures indicate that the number of cases reported by Ohio's juvenile courts in 1958 is almost 70 per cent greater than the number reported for 1948.

The 66,630 cases reported last year compare with 39,290 reported 10 years prior.

But 1958 was only the second year in which all 88 counties have been represented in the reports. The other year was 1957.

The figures were released Tuesday by the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

The department said the 1958 figures show that some definite action was taken or some plan of treatment decided upon in all 66,630 cases.

Khrush Urges Wide-Open Talk

Anti-Hitler Nations Asked Help Pen Pact

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev urged today a broad-based conference of all nations which took part in the war against Hitlerism, with the aim of concluding a peace treaty with Germany.

He called attention to President Eisenhower's proposal Monday night that a summit conference might be held this summer if a foreign ministers meeting could start negotiations on the Berlin crisis.

"We appeal to the governments of all nations which took part in the war against Hitlerite Germany to sit down at the negotiation table and settle pressing problems, to conclude a peace treaty with Germany," Khrushchev told a special news conference in the Kremlin.

Khrushchev's tone seemed mild.

Khrushchev made a similar proposal last January in a note to 27 other countries which fought Nazi Germany. The West rejected this, and in turn asked the Soviet Union to take part in a foreign ministers conference in Geneva or Vienna with both East and West Germans in attendance, to prevent the German issues from touching off a new war.

Khrushchev this time seemed to have seized upon President Eisenhower's Monday remark as a starting point for a new attempt to make a summit conference a reality.

"We would like the Western governments, having cast aside the mad threats of their generals and admirals against our country, to sit down at the conference table with us," Khrushchev said.

"If they have sensible proposals to make, we are ready to examine them, together with our own proposals."

He then added that if the West was "seriously ready" for talks, the Soviet Union would not hold up matters.

"We have put forward our proposals for a peace treaty with Germany and for normalizing the situation in Berlin," Khrushchev said. "It is now up to the Western powers. If they are prepared to start talks in real earnest, we would not be found wanting. We shall do everything within our power to make the talks a success."

The Soviet Union's only purpose, he asserted, is "to see to it that the dark clouds of a new war should forever disappear from the international horizon."

Politicians Square Off in Budget Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats and Republicans squared off today for another budget battle likely to have repercussions in next year's election campaigns.

It's over a Democratic-backed airport-aid bill which calls for spending 97 million dollars more than President Eisenhower has recommended.

Republicans are backing a bill following the President's recommendations and providing for a four-year outlay of 200 millions for airport development.

They already have served notice that they will demand a separate roll-call vote on their measure to determine, in the words of GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, "who the spenders are."

Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts told the House there will be a roll-call vote on the Democrats' bill "and it will be interesting to see how Republicans vote."

The bill backed by most Democrats calls for a four year extension of the federal airport-aid program at a cost of 297 million dollars, considerably below the 465 millions already voted by the Senate. It would approve the use of federal funds for airport construction and for the cost of airport terminal space used by federal agencies, such as traffic control towers, weather stations and customs offices.

The administration measure would restrict the use of federal funds to airports and needed safety facilities. It provides for a gradual withdrawal from the airport aid program over the four-year period.

8 Girl Scouts, 2 Mothers Die In Collision

Station Wagon-Train Crash near Xenia Wipes Out Party

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—A freight train plowed into a car carrying 10 passengers and "split it open like a tin can" in a tragic railroad crossing accident near here Wednesday. All 10—including eight Girl Scouts—were killed.

The "tin can" description came from the Rev. Alvin Klotz, one of the first on the scene, who added: "Pepole were strewn over the field. There were two or three near the car but the others were all over."

The car was dragged 50 feet along the tracks before being shoved to one side. One body, that of the driver, Mrs. Lucille White, 44, was found 75 feet beyond the car, indicating the force of the crash.

The daughters of Mrs. White and the other adult in the car, Mrs. Jeanette Randall, 39, were among the eight girls who perished.

The girls were returning home from a library here where they had been studying for merit badges. They lived in Beavercreek Twp., a rural suburb between Xenia and Dayton.

The accident happened about 3½ miles west of Xenia.

Kenneth Ward, father of one Girl Scout, is an auxiliary fireman. He was helping gather up the bodies, unaware that his daughter was a victim, when he recognized what was left of the car. After hunting around, he found the body of his 12-year-old daughter, Linda.

The other girls were Sharon White, Cindy Moorman, Connie Laprise, Patricia Lapinski, Ann North, Paulnetta Randall and Anna Wilvert.

All were 12 years old except Anna who was 11, and the last to die.

Six were killed outright in the crash and three were dead on arrival at the hospital.

W. R. Murray of Columbus, engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad's three-diesel express freight, said he saw the car slow down as it approached the crossing, and he thought it was going to stop. But it kept coming into the train's path, he said.

State Highway Patrolman J. W. Smith said his investigation showed the freight was moving 60 to 70 m.p.h. but a Pennsylvania spokesman pointed out that the speed limit in that area is 50 m.p.h.

The crossing is unprotected by flasher signals and has only a crossbar railroad sign.

Vaughn Lewis, superintendent of Greene County Schools, commented: "The biggest tragedy was that there was no flasher light there. That's a bad crossing and we (the school board) fought for flashers and didn't get it. This is inexcusable in a populated area."

Spring - like weather finally came to most of the mid-continent today and warmer air headed into the cool sections in the eastern part of the country.

Warm air, fanned by southerly winds, spread across areas from the Central Plains and Mississippi Valley into the upper Great Lakes region during the night. Gusty winds reached 30 to 40 m.p.h from Kansas across Iowa into the Great Lakes.

Dry weather was the rule in most sections of the country.

Woman Dies at Age 56, Leaving $40 Million

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Funeral services will be held Friday for Mrs. Muriel McCormick Hubbard, an heiress to both the Rockefeller and McCormick fortunes who served in the U.S. Women's Army Corps during World War II.

She died Wednesday of a heart ailment at the age of 56.

Mrs. Hubbard was the granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller Sr. and Cyrus McCormick, inventor of the reaper. Her personal estate was estimated at 40 million dollars.

Mother, 3 Tots Held as Hostages

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—A 29-year-old mother and her three children were captives today of a crazed, former convict who said he was only interested in "vengeance."

The gunman threatened to torture and kill the four unless authorities released a convict from prison so he could slay the man.

"Only you have the power to save them from certain death, by granting my demands," read the note left behind by a man identified as Richard I. Payne, 23.

State police described Payne as an especially dangerous mental patient.

He left a note behind in his victims' home, addressed to West Virginia Gov. Cecil H. Underwood. In the rambling, five-page tirade, he named another convict, Burton Junior Post, better known as Junior Starcher.

Underwood was flying to Washington to confer with federal highway officials on road construction projects for the state. A State Police spokesman said Underwood had "no comment."

The note said:

"My purpose is to kill and to take the head of my worst enemy, who is now out of reach. He is in the W.Va. Penitentiary at Moundsville."

Payne proposed to use his captives as a wedge to force Starcher's release.

"To save the children," the note read, "I demand only the FBI work on this case."

Payne entered the home of John H. Baldwin, 31, early Wednesday night on the pretense of wanting to use the telephone.

Then he whipped out a pistol and threatened to kill the whole family, Baldwin told police.

The crazed ex-convict bound Baldwin, his wife Elma, 29, and their children, Susan, 5; Danny, 7, and Kenneth, 10. Methodically he gagged each one.

He ignored Mrs. Baldwin's mumbled pleas to release the gag, and composed his wild note addressed to Underwood.

Then he herded the mother and her three frightened children into Baldwin's 1955 model car. Baldwin was left tied up in the family's five-room house. He broke free and notified authorities.

"He said he would kill my wife and torture the children if I called police," Baldwin told authorities.

State police Capt. W. R. Callaghan said Payne was released from the State Penitentiary at Moundsville last week. He had served seven years for an armed robbery in which he shot and wounded a motel owner.

Sesqui Group Election Set For Friday

The second meeting of the Pickaway County Historical Society will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the local Common Pleas courtroom.

Tomorrow's meeting will start with election of officers and trustees. Following will be a discussion of plans to begin preparation of the 1960 sesquicentennial celebration and establishment of a historical museum.

All organizations are asked to send a representative to the meeting and all interested persons are urged to attend.

News Briefs

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—Elizabeth Duncan, smiling and blushing on the witness stand, is fighting death in the gas chamber.

The convicted murderess has begun testimony in her own behalf before a jury which is to decide her penalty—death or life imprisonment.

The jury is the same one which on Monday convicted Mrs. Duncan of masterminding the murder of her attractive daughter-in-law, Olga Duncan, 30.

Mrs. Duncan, 54, was found guilty of hiring Luis Moya and Augustine Baldonado to strangle Olga. The prosecution contended she was so jealous of her 30-year-old son, Frank, that she couldn't bear to lose him to another woman.

The defendant Wednesday answered questions about her 11 marriages breezily, sometimes almost gaily.

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)—A psychiatric examination was scheduled today for a husky 15-year-old who shot his grandmother and maid to death Wednesday.

Charges of murder with malice were filed against the boy, James Stevens Patterson. He was ordered held by juvenile authorities.

The junior high student was quoted as saying he didn't know why he killed his grandmother, Mrs. F. S. Riggs, 77, and Lola Mae Williams, 35, a Negro maid.

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—The attorney general of British Columbia Wednesday night introduced legislation to make it unlawful to "picket or beset" any government building in the province.

This followed by six days the four-hour strike of 11,000 provincial employees which tied up governmental services and was halted when an anti-picketing injunction was issued. A Supreme Court justice is deliberating on the government's request for continuation of the injunction granted last Friday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The consumer is the chief target this year in campaigns to increase state taxes.

This is shown in a survey which reports that state governments are shooting for more than 1½ billion dollars more in new or increased taxes on their citizens.

The survey findings were announced at the conclusion of a three-day meeting of the National Taxpayers Conference.

The study, covering 25 states, shows sales or income taxes to be the favorite source.

Blasts Set Off 300 Miles Up

Pentagon Holds Mum On Details of Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three nuclear bombs exploded by the United States beyond the earth's atmosphere formed an electronic sheet that circled most of the world.

A responsible official outside the Defense Department said the tests at tremendous altitude were an effort to spread a shield through which missiles could not fly.

Defense Department officials confirmed Wednesday night that the blasts had been set off secretly last September, for both military and scientific test purposes. But they declined to discuss the military angles.

Other sources reported, however that the tests explored the possibility of generating at an altitude of about 300 miles a diffusion of neutrons which would offset the nuclear reaction in missile warheads.

Just how the electronic shield could halt a missile or keep it from exploding was not explained.

The shots were fired from naval craft in the South Atlantic late in September — more than a month before the United States started a one-year suspension of nuclear tests pending negotiations with the Soviet Union on halting all such testing.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles and Dr. Herbert York, director of Pentagon research, gave some details of the test shots after newsmen learned of them from other sources.

They said the explosions were of very low yield in radiation and would not disclose the altitude at which the tests were made. York said there was no radioactive fallout on the earth from the tests.

York said the main objective of the blasts was to test important theories about the trapping of electrons by the earth's magnetic field. He said the detonation of the bombs released electrons into space above the earth's atmosphere, and that the trapping of these by the earth's magnetic field created the great sheet that eventually circled the globe.

The nonmilitary part of the test, York said, was to find out more about the nature and origin of the Van Allen belt of radiation.

Utility Strike Negotiations Due Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Another attempt to settle the strike against the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. is scheduled for Friday afternoon, a federal mediator said today.

Some 1,300 employes of the company are in the third week of the strike against the utility firm, which provides electricity for 23 central and southern Ohio counties.

H. J. Montoney, the federal mediator, said he has arranged a session for late afternoon but that he does not know if it will be a joint union-management meeting. "It could develop into that," he said.

Both sides have changed position slightly since contract negotiations were broken off by the strike. Originally, the company offered a flat 3½ per cent general increase. That has been upped to 4½ per cent.

The union originally asked for a six per cent general increase, but since has lowered its demand to about five per cent. The union continues its demand, however, for an additional 10-cent hourly boost for top linemen in addition to the general increase.

The company announced it is offering a $5,000 reward for furnishing the firm with information leading to arrest and conviction of anyone threatening in a menacing manner any person working for the company, or member of his family.

Earlier, the compay had offered rewards for arrest and conviction of anyone damaging or destroying company property.

The union today also offered a similar $5,000 reward for arrest and conviction of anyone caught threatening, molesting or intimidating any of their pickets or their families.

ious radiation band begining at about 1,000 miles above the earth and extending, with some interruptions, up to at least 12,000 miles. It is named for its discoverer, Dr. James Van Allen, State University of Iowa physicist.

York said the phenomenon created above the earth's atmosphere by the September tests consisted of a sheet of electrons which was "an artificial version of the natural effect" from the Van Allen belt.

The electronic sheet created by the bombs, York said, extended around the whole world except for breaks over both the North and South poles—a pattern similar to the Van Allen belt.

York would not disclose the depth of the artificial sheet or say how long the phenomenon lasted.

The Explorer IV satellite sent back some data on the tests. This information is to be released later.

Sources outside the Pentagon who had been informed of the tests said it was significant that about the time they were made there was a sudden reduction in the Nike-Zeus program to develop an antimissile missile. However, there was no clear indication as to whether this pointed to possible future development of a program aimed at producing a high altitude shield against missiles.

Quarles said results of the tests are being studied by many scientists. He termed the experiment "an exploration of the unknown in an area that may have considerable importance."

PLEASANT VIEW High School, newest member of the South Central Ohio loop, also was represented. It was confirmed that the new league school will participate in the coming 1959-60 athletic campaigns.

It was announced that an invitation to join the league will be extended to Beaver Creek High School if it so desires. The Greene County school, near Xenia, expressed interest in joining the SCO last year.

Coach Fred Domenico of Washington C. H. displayed standard sized trophies which will be awarded for future SCO sports activities.

The trophies will be in three sizes, one standard size for track, baseball and co-championships, a larger size for undisputed football and basketball championships, and still a larger size for undefeated and untied champions in league football and basketball competition.

A main item of business was the awarding of the past basketball championship to Wilmington. The trophy was presented to Coach Chuck Schmidt. The reserve cage championship was officially awarded to Washington C. H.

School superintendents agreed that league schools winning football and basketball championships will call a post-season meeting to select all-star teams. League newspaper writers will be invited to these meetings.

The league's regular fall meeting will be held at Greenfield.

Relief Hits Peak $12,611

Atlas Fired To Test New Nose Cone

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Air Force has fired a "new look" Atlas ICBM on a flight to test a new nose cone—the same type that would shield a deadly thermonuclear warhead in combat.

If all went well on Wednesday night's planned 4,500 mile flight the Air Force hoped to recover a complete Atlas warhead from the Atlantic depths for the first time.

It was not known whether the results would be announced because of the strict security wraps around the military launching.

The huge white cone, a radical change from the blunt-shaped device that usually tops the Atlas, was the center of attraction when the giant war rocket blasted aloft from a pool of swirling flame and smoke.

The mission on this 22nd Atlas shoot in 21 months was to check the performance of the new warhead cover during a brief space flight at 15,000 m.p.h. and the red hot re-entry through the earth's atmosphere to the target.

The launching marked another major stride in an accelerated program to make the nation's first intercontinental range ballistic missile operational early next year.

In addition to its capability as a war weapon, the Convair missile is being groomed for a busy scientific space job that will start this June with the launching of a probe to the planet Venus.

Safety Group Hears Report From Ohio Safety Director

In the regular meeting of the Pickaway County Traffic Safety Committee meeting Wednesday, an announcement from J. Grant Keys, Director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, was read.

It revealed that 1958 traffic deaths were 12 percent under those of 1957. In 1958, 1,812 were killed as compared with 2,053 in 1957 and 2,023 in 1956.

A total of 241 lives were saved as a result of this reduction. In spite of more miles traveled, and more cars registered, there were 7 percent less accidents and 4 percent fewer injuries.

Economic losses resulting from traffic accidents on Ohio roadways in 1958 amounted to $250,000,000, based on National Safety Council estimates.

* * *

IF SHARED by Ohio's 4,000,000 motor vehicle owners, this would cost each owner approximately $60.

Refuting excuses that accidents were caused by out-of-state or out-of-county drivers, Director Keys said "All but 5 percent of the drivers involved in accidents were from Ohio and 79 percent were residents of the counties in which the accidents occurred.

The Pickaway County Traffic Safety Committee activities locally were reviewed during the meeting.

These activities include. 1 — Endorsing the Knights of Pythias Traffic Safety Poster Contest for high school students.

Robert Ferguson, K. of P. representative to the Traffic Safety Committee, reported that several entries are on display in Circleville store windows and more are expected before the contest closing date of March 31.

2—Endorsing of the second Vehicle Safety Check, sponsored by the Boy Scouts.

* * *

W. W. STORY, Committee President, reported that the Boy Scouts will again sponsor the Vehicle Safety Checks and Check Lanes will be set up as in 1958.

Local civic organizations will be contacted and requested to send representatives to assist in car checking. Dates for the safety checks will be May 9 and 16.

3—Endorsing of Bicycle Safety Checks by the 4-H Clubs.

Material will be supplied to County 4-H Clubs for group bicycle safety checks.

4—Correction of traffic hazards presented to the committee.

Two of the three items submitted in the February meeting have already been corrected.

* * *

SEVERAL NEW items were assigned to various committee members for action in effort to correct the conditions described.

Col. James Snyder, Finance Chairman, reported that funds to be expended on improving roads in Ohio would be tremendous for the next 30 years, with about a $3 billion expenditure expected.

Costs of new roads will be high but the added safety will reduce these costs. With throughways and limited access highways, accidents are reduced in spite of more travel-miles per year.

An added two cents per gallon of gasoline tax is expected to help pay for these new roads.

The meeting was adjourned following a ten minute film on "Vehicle Safety Checks".

Attending the meeting and organizations represented were: Mrs. Jude Gleixner and Mrs. W. J. Sullivan, Newcomers Club; Mrs. C. W. Hedges, Ashville;

ious radiation band begining at about 1,000 miles above the earth and extending, with some interruptions, up to at least 12,000 miles. It is named for its discoverer, Dr. James Van Allen, State University of Iowa physicist.

York said the phenomenon created above the earth's atmosphere by the September tests consisted of a sheet of electrons which was "an artificial version of the natural effect" from the Van Allen belt.

The electronic sheet created by the bombs, York said, extended around the whole world except for breaks over both the North and South poles—a pattern similar to the Van Allen belt.

York would not disclose the depth of the artificial sheet or say how long the phenomenon lasted.

The Explorer IV satellite sent back some data on the tests. This information is to be released later.

Sources outside the Pentagon who had been informed of the tests said it was significant that about the time they were made there was a sudden reduction in the Nike-Zeus program to develop an antimissile missile. However, there was no clear indication as to whether this pointed to possible future development of a program aimed at producing a high altitude shield against missiles.

Quarles said results of the tests are being studied by many scientists. He termed the experiment "an exploration of the unknown in an area that may have considerable importance."

Donor Explains Aid to Teachers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For six years now, a Columbus businessman says he has been giving $5,000 annually to deserving teachers here. The money is to be used for studies to make them better teachers.

The businessman still wants his name cloaked in secrecy, but he disclosed to a reporter Wednesday the reason behind his action.

"There's only one thing of really great importance in this world — that's people," he said.

"If you take care of them, everything else will take care of itself."

He said there's no better way to do this than through education. And for children to learn, he added, they must have good teachers.

Thus, his $30,000 gift.

It was announced that an invitation to join the league will be extended to Beaver Creek High School if it so desires. The Greene County school, near Xenia, expressed interest in joining the SCO last year.

Coach Fred Domenico of Washington C. H. displayed standard sized trophies which will be awarded for future SCO sports activities.

The trophies will be in three sizes, one standard size for track, baseball and co-championships, a larger size for undisputed football and basketball championships, and still a larger size for undefeated and untied champions in league football and basketball competition.

A main item of business was the awarding of the past basketball championship to Wilmington. The trophy was presented to Coach Chuck Schmidt. The reserve cage championship was officially awarded to Washington C. H.

School superintendents agreed that league schools winning football and basketball championships will call a post-season meeting to select all-star teams. League newspaper writers will be invited to these meetings.

The league's regular fall meeting will be held at Greenfield.

Tuvelle has appeared as soloist with the Navy Concert Band, the National Symphony Orchestra of Washington and toured throughout South America with the Navy Band.

Safety Group Hears Report From Ohio Safety Director

In the regular meeting of the Pickaway County Traffic Safety Committee meeting Wednesday, an announcement from J. Grant Keys, Director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, was read.

It revealed that 1958 traffic deaths were 12 percent under those of 1957. In 1958, 1,812 were killed as compared with 2,053 in 1957 and 2,023 in 1956.

A total of 241 lives were saved as a result of this reduction. In spite of more miles traveled, and more cars registered, there were 7 percent less accidents and 4 percent fewer injuries.

Economic losses resulting from traffic accidents on Ohio roadways in 1958 amounted to $250,000,000, based on National Safety Council estimates.

* * *

IF SHARED by Ohio's 4,000,000 motor vehicle owners, this would cost each owner approximately $60.

Refuting excuses that accidents were caused by out-of-state or out-of-county drivers, Director Keys said "All but 5 percent of the drivers involved in accidents were from Ohio and 79 percent were residents of the counties in which the accidents occurred.

The Pickaway County Traffic Safety Committee activities locally were reviewed during the meeting.

These activities include. 1 — Endorsing the Knights of Pythias Traffic Safety Poster Contest for high school students.

Robert Ferguson, K. of P. representative to the Traffic Safety Committee, reported that several entries are on display in Circleville store windows and more are expected before the contest closing date of March 31.

2—Endorsing of the second Vehicle Safety Check, sponsored by the Boy Scouts.

* * *

W. W. STORY, Committee President, reported that the Boy Scouts will again sponsor the Vehicle Safety Checks and Check Lanes will be set up as in 1958.

Local civic organizations will be contacted and requested to send representatives to assist in car checking. Dates for the safety checks will be May 9 and 16.

3—Endorsing of Bicycle Safety Checks by the 4-H Clubs.

Material will be supplied to County 4-H Clubs for group bicycle safety checks.

4—Correction of traffic hazards presented to the committee.

Two of the three items submitted in the February meeting have already been corrected.

* * *

SEVERAL NEW items were assigned to various committee members for action in effort to correct the conditions described.

Col. James Snyder, Finance Chairman, reported that funds to be expended on improving roads in Ohio would be tremendous for the next 30 years, with about a $3 billion expenditure expected.

Costs of new roads will be high but the added safety will reduce these costs. With throughways and limited access highways, accidents are reduced in spite of more travel-miles per year.

An added two cents per gallon of gasoline tax is expected to help pay for these new roads.

The meeting was adjourned following a ten minute film on "Vehicle Safety Checks".

Attending the meeting and organizations represented were: Mrs. Jude Gleixner and Mrs. W. J. Sullivan, Newcomers Club; Mrs. C. W. Hedges, Ashville;

Millions Will Not See Classroom

Nearly half the children of the world between the ages of 5 and 14 will never set foot in a classroom, a committee of the United Nations reports after a worldwide survey of the progress of education. Approximately 250 persons now in school ages will never have one day of formal education, and only recently have the facilities for education begun to absorb pupils faster than the population increases.

Not a very commendable result of an enlightened age, but this is the status of education as the second half of the twentieth century approaches the end of its first decade.

African and Asian countries rank at the bottom of the education ladder, consistent with their more backward civilizations. But more advanced nations are also encountering trouble keeping up with soaring populations and rising education costs. It is only through constant warnings and appeals that the latter are able to keep their heads above the standards of modern education.

"One soon gains the impression from statements made in educational journals and at conventions of educators," reports the UN education committee, "that in countries with the most developed educational facilities the school system is in serious danger."

Perhaps the exuberant attitude of educators to advance their profession faster than society is capable of supporting it does lend its hand to a great deal of talk about the dire consequences of future education, but this attitude undoubtedly has helped to pull the level of education higher in the more advanced societies.

Those who take education for granted as an expected service of the state might well remember that it was not always so, and is not now so in many lands.

It Isn't Luck--It's God

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — People tell Nan Martin, hailed by some as Broadway's actress of the year, she's lucky.

In reply Nan likes to quote a line from the play she currently is starred in: "It isn't luck when God is good to you."

Nan Martin, a vibrantly slender woman with blue-hazel eyes and hair the color of time-mellowed ivory, is no sudden Cinderella.

"Nothing wonderful ever happens to you overnight," she said soberly. "There is a long process of hard work before you take the long stride, the big step.

"I've always wondered what makes people stay in the theater. It's a cruel business. It's a brutal business. You have to work very hard to get by in it, and you have to love it very much to stay in it."

After getting off to a good start, Nan did give up the theater for a while—but now she feels she's back to stay.

Nan first tried for a footlight career here at the age of 17, shortly after graduating from a Santa Monica, Calif., high school, where she was the only girl student president in the school's history.

Although she earlier had started studying drama with Max Reinhardt at 12, she first won attention here as a fashion model, and was featured on half a dozen magazine covers.

A role in "The Constant Wife" with Katharine Cornell launched her on her way, but then she married Robert Emmett Dolan, a young producer, and she quit to become "a full-time wife." They moved to the West Coast.

"It was a wonderful life," she said. "We had a house by the ocean. I painted, and learned to cook, and had a son. I was very domestic. I even made slippers in needlepoint for everyone I loved.

"Then one day I found I had to go back to the theater. It was burning inside me. So back I came."

Starting all over, Nan took any kind of theatrical job she could find.

She caught the eye of director Elia Kazan. The phone call from him led her to stardom, as it has many others.

United Europe Is Possible

By George Sokolsky

As one looks at a list of the European agencies established to bring Western Europe into a union, it becomes clearer that much has been accomplished in recent years, some of it good, some of it futile, in the direction of joint operations among countries which had been at war.

The United Nations is worldwide and includes Asian, African and other non-European groups. Europe's problems are separate and distinct, because for centuries it was European countries which dominated the world not only physically and materially but as a civilizing force.

Two world wars shattered Europe and forced upon it new systems of life and new concepts of government. However, modern commerce and industry, the movement of men and money require better organization than small nations can provide.

The need for an economic, if not a political union for Europe, has become obvious, but the techniques for achieving the ultimate goal of such a Europe as existed under Charles V or Napoleon do not readily present themselves in this period of so-called democracy. The resistance is not as much nationalistic as it is economic.

Hill and Knowlton, having gone Hill and Knowlton, having gone into the international business, has issued a brief directory of "Europe's 'Alphabet' Agencies and Agreements," which I found to be interesting reading because it provides an index to the effort toward union.

The European Economic Community, (EEC), for instance, is the more formal name for the European Common Market (ECM). This consists of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. It is more than a customs union and less than a super-government. Nevertheless, it has quite a set-up, an Assembly, a Council of Ministers, a Court of Justice, and a Common Market Commission. It has two advisory groups: an Economic and Social Committee and a Monetary Committee and three operating groups: The European Investment Bank, a Development Fund and a European Social Fund.

Along similar lines is Euratom—the European Atomic Energy Community — formed by the same nations that formed the Common Market. Euratom encourages the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. It pools knowledge. Both the ECM and Euratom have their headquarters in Brussels, Belgium.

The European Coal and Steel Community is older than ECM or Euratom. It was founded in 1952. The same nations are in this group. It has been very successful in the restoration of the Wesaern European coal and steel industries.

The OEEC is an outgrowth of World War II and the need for quickened rehabilitation of European countries—17 countries belong to this organization which helped to develop and implement the Marshall Plan and produced the European Monetary Agreement which provides a capital fund of $600,000,000 to extend short-term crelits to member nations of OEEC. The Benelux Customs Union — generally referred to as Benelux—is a union of Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg for an ultimate economic union of these three countries.

The most ambiguous of these trends toward an economic unification of Europe and the rest of the world is GATT which is short for General Agreement on Tariff and Trade. This includes 37 nations on all continents and seeks stabilization and tariff reductions. The effect of GATT upon American industries is extremely dubious. Many believe that it could even be harmful.

NATO does on the military side what all these organizations try to do on the economic side. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization is a military union among European countries opposed to the imperialistic efforts of Soviet Russia. Its headquarters are in Paris. Alongside of NATO is the COCOM, the Coordinating Committee, which operates to coordinate strategic trade controls.

These are agencies which are European in nature and origin, although most of them are closely associated with the United States. A number of agencies exist which originate in the United Nations, their special purpose being to strengthen the economy or to improve socal conditions in Europe. Such organizations as the International Monetary Fund, the International Labor Organization, the Food and Agri 'tural Organization report directly to the United Nations.

Were there a quarter of a century of real peace, it is probable that these various agencies could be amalgamated into a Western European Union which could be the strongest region on Earth. A general war, however, would shatter them all and leave the world worse than it ever has been.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

PRIVATE WILKINS had been living for the day when he'd receive his discharge from the Army. No sooner had he donned his civvies than he dashed off this note to his former commanding officer:

"Dear Captain Koshland: After the indignities and repeated humiliations I've suffered for the past three years, it now gives me infinite pleasure to tell you and the whole Army to go straight to hell."

Back came this reply: "Dear Sir: Suggestions concerning the movements of troops must be entered on Army Form AGO-186M, in triplicate, copies of which are enclosed. Captain Koshland."

Save Heart, Be Moderate

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Pulling through a heart attack often requires a lot of effort and sacrifice on the part of the patient. But once recovery is complete, the outlook isn't nearly so bleak.

In fact, you have to give up relatively few of your customary pleasures.

Naturally, you don't want to gain weight, so you will have to watch your diet. If you are already overweight — and many heart patients are — your doctor probably will suggest a gradual reducing program.

You reduce the work of your heart when you reduce your weight. Your diet should not be drastic. You can eat fairly sizeable, well-balanced meals, but the foods should be low in calories.

You don't have to give up tea or coffee and you can often continue to drink, at least some alcoholic beverages, if your doctor says so.

There was a time when we used to ban tea, coffee and alcohol from the diet of anyone who had suffered a heart attack, but thinking has changed over the years.

Both tea and coffee are stimulants. However, they are permissible if you drink moderate amounts. Coffee, you see, is a vasodilator; that means it opens up the coronary arteries and helps get the blood to the heart.

Alcohol, too, is a vasodilator, but we aren't sure whether its efforts extend to the heart arteries.

Now, I don't mean that anyone who has just recovered from a heart attack should begin drinking if he hasn't done it before. This won't do you any good at all.

However, if you have drunk alcoholic beverages in the past, you progably can resume drinking in moderation once your attack is over, if your doctor says so.

In general, beer should be eliminated from the diet of anyone who has had heart trouble since it is fattening and contains salt. Salt helps your body retain water, and we don't want this in a heart patient.

You don't have to give up smoking entirely, unless your physician rules otherwise. We know that tobacco contracts the small surface blood vessels and that it can hinder the circulation in the legs.

But its effect upon the heart isn't too clear. Generally, we advise heart patients to cut down—maybe smoke only denicotinized cigarets — if they are habitual smokers, and to cut it out entirely if they can get along without smoking at all.

Answer: Much can be done to correct curvature of the spine in an 11-year-old boy. It would be advisable to consult an orthopedist (bone specialist) as soon as possible.

Uniform Real Property Rules To Be Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Uniform rules drafted by the state for valuation of real property for tax purposes will be reviewed, the Ohio Supreme Court said yesterday.

The High Court accepted the appeal of Cuyahoga County Auditor John J. Carney from a Franklin County Appellate Court decision holding the regulations valid. The appellate court reversed a common pleas court decision that upset the rules drafted in 1957 by the State Board of Tax Appeals.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the best kept secrets of 1959—and one of the real keys to the Berlin crisis—is the answer to a question which from now on will be crucial in the news about the Soviet Union, Germany and the West.

Do the Western Allies, despite their public show of solidarity about not budging on Berlin, have anything to offer in the way of ideas that might avoid a military showdown with the Soviets?

It has just been disclosed that the United States has drawn up the outlines of a peace treaty with Germany. Apparently, it is still in very sketchy form.

President Eisenhower hinted Monday night in his nationvide broadcast that the Allies do have new ideas and expect some from the U.S.S.R. He said no more. By his silence he drew a curtain across whatever ideas he has in mind.

This was natural enough, since before the United States unveils any plan it would need approval by France, Britain and West Germany. Lack of such approval would indicate the Allies had split wide open.

Some proposals to the Soviet Union—to avoid war over Berlin and seek instead a peaceful solution—will be at the heart of the discussions here this week between Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan.

From the beginning there have actually been three keys to the Berlin crisis:

1. How determined were the Soviets to back up their demand that the Allies get their troops out of Berlin? That question still is unanswered.

2. Would the Allies yield to this Soviet demand and witndraw? They already have said they would not.

3. If the U.S.S.R. insists the Allies get out but the Allies won't budge, then the only answer is a military showdown unless the two sides negotiate a settlement. But negotiate on what? What can either side propose that the other will accept?

Nobody in the West has yet been able to say positively why Premier Nikita Khrushchev precipitated the crisis in the first place with his demands against the Allies in Berlin.

So no one has been able to say positively how far he is willing to go to back up his demands. He himself has suggested negotiations—including a summit conference—to talk things out.

Eisenhower Monday night indicated a willingness to have a summit meeting next summer, but only if developments justify it.

At this moment—when neither the West nor the Soviet Union has yet produced ideas that would seem acceptable to the other—the situation remains frozen on the Soviet demand for the Allies to vacate Berlin and their public refusal to do so.

Unless they start talking, there will have to be a showdown of some kind. Such a showdown, if it comes, will probably be months away, for it is almost certain the two sides first will do some talking.

This is where the basic question comes in again: Talk on what?

DiSalle Raps Legal Gambling

No Move Planned On Charity Bingo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has reiterated his opposition to legalized gambling.

But he told newsmen that betting is permitted under law at race tracks, and that he will not move against charity bingo.

"I feel very strongly against legalized gambling," the goveror said. His statement followed receipt of letters commenting on his proposals for a czar to regulate horse racing in Ohio, and transfer of Liquor Board powers to the state liquor chief.

DiSalle said he has only one application for the job of racing czar, but that several Ohioans have written to him about his proposal to base the number of days of horse racing allotted in an area on a population formula.

The governor said he still is considering a message on racing to the Legislature after further talks with members of the State Racing Commission.

"I think we are beginning to see some light in this thing," DiSalle said.

He expressed belief that bingo could not be legalized under the State Constitution, although holding no personal objections to charity play.

The governor repeated claims that the liquor director should have some of the powers lodged with the liquor board, in able to fix responsibility. He said liquor enforcement is the primary responsibility of local communities.

"If they don't do that," he said, "they will run into difficulty on the withholding of license fees by the state."

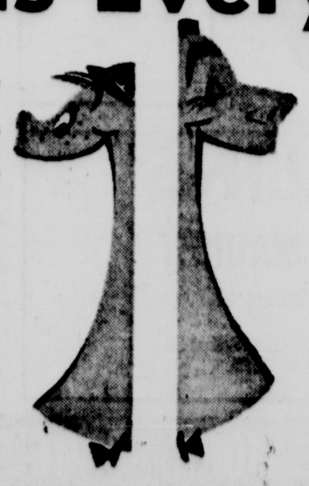
Ted Lewis Would Ask—"Is Everybody Happy?"

Yes we are very happy at Yates Buick because we have had the best 15 days sales we ever had. Eleven new Buicks and 10 new Ramblers. There is a difference in cars and people are beginning to find that out. We can show you the difference but all we have ever asked is to check and drive our cars before you buy. Since 1936 Buick has been first in price class and Rambler has jumped from the bottom up to seventh place in sales. Buick and Rambler are the only two cars built today with Torque Tube Drive and Coil Springs all around. Buick is the only car with finned brake drums or longer service and Verticle valve V-8 for better lubrication and longer life. These are items that mean a lot to you.



We believe there is only one thing you can own and that is your word and there is only one thing you can buy and that is service. We like to think that our Word and our Service plus two fine products have made this sales record possible. All we would like to ask again is that you drive test and compare a Buick or Rambler before you buy any car. We say 'Know the Facts' and you will get the pleasure and service you purchased. And do not forget that you also can get a mighty fine deal on a good Used Car.

Millions Will Not See Classroom

Nearly half the children of the world between the ages of 5 and 14 will never set foot in a classroom, a committee of the United Nations reports after a worldwide survey of the progress of education. Approximately 250 persons now in school ages will never have one day of formal education, and only recently have the facilities for education begun to absorb pupils faster than the population increases.

Not a very commendable result of an enlightened age, but this is the status of education as the second half of the twentieth century approaches the end of its first decade.

African and Asian countries rank at the bottom of the education ladder, consistent with their more backward civilizations. But more advanced nations are also encountering trouble keeping up with soaring populations and rising education costs. It is only through constant warnings and appeals that the latter are able to keep their heads above the standards of modern education.

"One soon gains the impression from statements made in educational journals and at conventions of educators," reports the UN education committee, "that in countries with the most developed educational facilities the school system is in serious danger."

Perhaps the exuberant attitude of educators to advance their profession faster than society is capable of supporting it does lend its hand to a great deal of talk about the dire consequences of future education, but this attitude undoubtedly has helped to pull the level of education higher in the more advanced societies.

Those who take education for granted as an expected service of the state might well remember that it was not always so, and is not now so in many lands.

It Isn't Luck--It's God

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — People tell Nan Martin, hailed by some as Broadway's actress of the year, she's lucky.

In reply Nan likes to quote a line from the play she currently is starred in: "It isn't luck when God is good to you."

Nan Martin, a vibrantly slender woman with blue-hazel eyes and hair the color of time-mellowed ivory, is no sudden Cinderella.

"Nothing wonderful ever happens to you overnight," she said soberly. "There is a long process of hard work before you take the long stride, the big step.

"I've always wondered what makes people stay in the theater. It's a cruel business. It's a brutal business. You have to work very hard to get by in it, and you have to love it very much to stay in it."

After getting off to a good start, Nan did give up the theater for a while—but now she feels she's back to stay.

Nan first tried for a footlight career here at the age of 17, shortly after graduating from a Santa Monica, Calif., high school, where she was the only girl student president in the school's history.

Although she earlier had started studying drama with Max Reinhardt at 12, she first won attention here as a fashion model, and was featured on half a dozen magazine covers.

A role in "The Constant Wife" with Katharine Cornell launched her on her way, but then she married Robert Emmett Dolan, a young producer, and she quit to become "a full-time wife." They moved to the West Coast.

"It was a wonderful life," she said. "We had a house by the ocean. I painted, and learned to cook, and had a son. I was very domestic. I even made slippers in needlepoint for everyone I loved.

"Then one day I found I had to go back to the theater. It was burning inside me. So back I came."

Starting all over, Nan took any kind of theatrical job she could find.

She caught the eye of director Elia Kazan. The phone call from him led her to stardom, as it has many others.

United Europe Is Possible

By George Sokolsky

As one looks at a list of the European agencies established to bring Western Europe into a union, it becomes clearer that much has been accomplished in recent years, some of it good, some of it futile, in the direction of joint operations among countries which had been at war.

The United Nations is worldwide and includes Asian, African and other non-European groups. Europe's problems are separate and distinct, because for centuries it was European countries which dominated the world not only physically and materially but as a civilizing force.

Two world wars shattered Europe and forced upon it new systems of life and new concepts of government. However, modern commerce and industry, the movement of men and money require better organization than small nations can provide.

The need for an economic, if not a political union for Europe, has become obvious, but the techniques for achieving the ultimate goal of such a Europe as existed under Charles V or Napoleon do not readily present themselves in this period of so-called democracy. The resistance is not as much nationalistic as it is economic.

Hill and Knowlton, having gone Hill anl Knowlton, having gone into the international business, has issued a brief directory of "Europe's 'Alphabet' Agencies and Agreements," which I found to be interesting reading because it provides an index to the effort toward union.

The European Economic Community, (EEC), for instance, is the more formal name for the European Common Market (ECM). This consists of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. It is more than a customs union and less than a super-government. Nevertheless, it has quite a set-up, an Assembly, a Council of Ministers, a Court of Justice, and a Common Market Commission. It has two advisory groups: an Economic and Social Committee and a Monetary Committee and three operating groups: The European Investment Bank, a Development Fund and a European Social Fund.

Along similar lines is Euratom —the European Atomic Energy Community — formed by the same nations that formed the Common Market. Euratom encourages the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. It pools knowledge. Both the ECM and Euratom have their headquarters in Brussels, Belgium.

The European Coal and Steel Community is older than ECM or Euratom. It was founded in 1952. The same nations are in this group. It has been very successful in the restoration of the Wesaern European coal and steel industries.

The OEEC is an outgrowth of World War II and the need for quickened rehabilitation of European countries—17 countries belong to this organization which helped to develop and implement the Marshall Plan and produced the European Monetary Agreement which provides a capital fund of $600,000,000 to extend short-term crelits to member nations of OEEC. The Benelux Customs Union — generally referred to as Benelux—is a union of Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg for an ultimate economic union of these three countries.

The most ambiguous of these trends toward an economic unification of Europe and the rest of the world is GATT which is short for General Agreement on Tariff and Trade. This includes 37 nations on all continents and seeks stabilization and tariff reductions. The effect of GATT upon American industries is extremely dubious. Many believe that it could even be harmful.

NATO does on the military side what all these organizations try to do on the economic side. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization is a military union among European countries opposed to the imperialistic efforts of Soviet Russia. Its headquarters are in Paris. Alongside of NATO is the COCOM, the Coordinating Committee, which operates to coordinate strategic trade controls.

These are agencies which are European in nature and origin, although most of them are closely associated with the United States. A number of agencies exist which originate in the United Nations, their special purpose being to strengthen the economy or to improve socal conditions in Europe. Such organizations as the International Monetary Fund, the International Labor Organization, the Food and Agri 'tural Organization report directly to the United Nations.

Were there a quarter of a century of real peace, it is probable that these various agencies could be amalgamated into a Western European Union which could be the strongest region on Earth. A general war, however, would shatter them all and leave the world worse than it ever has been.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

PRIVATE WILKINS had been living for the day when he'd receive his discharge from the Army. No sooner had he donned his civvies than he dashed off this note to his former commanding officer:

"Dear Captain Koshland: After the indignities and repeated humiliations I've suffered for the past three years, it now gives me infinite pleasure to tell you and the whole Army to go straight to hell."

Back came this reply: "Dear Sir: Suggestions concerning the movements of troops must be entered on Army Form AGO-186M, in triplicate, copies of which are enclosed. Captain Koshland."

Save Heart, Be Moderate

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Pulling through a heart attack often requires a lot of effort and sacrifice on the part of the patient. But once recovery is complete, the outlook isn't nearly so bleak.

In fact, you have to give up relatively few of your customary pleasures.

Naturally, you don't want to gain weight, so you will have to watch your diet. If you are already overweight — and many heart patients are — your doctor probably will suggest a gradual reducing program.

You reduce the work of your heart when you reduce your weight. Your diet should not be drastic. You can eat fairly sizeable, well-balanced meals, but the foods should be low in calories.

You don't have to give up tea or coffee and you can often continue to drink, at least some alcoholic beverages, if your doctor says so.

There was a time when we used to ban tea, coffee and alcohol from the diet of anyone who had suffered a heart attack, but thinking has changed over the years.

Both tea and coffee are stimulants. However, they are permissible if you drink moderate amounts. Coffee, you see, is a vasodilator; that means it opens up the coronary arteries and helps get the blood to the heart.

Alcohol, too, is a vasodilator, but we aren't sure whether its efforts extend to the heart arteries.

Now, I don't mean that anyone who has just recovered from a heart attack should begin drinking if he hasn't done it before. This won't do you any good at all.

However, if you have drunk alcoholic beverages in the past, you progably can resume drinking in moderation once your attack is over, if your doctor says so.

In general, beer should be eliminated from the diet of anyone who has had heart trouble since it is fattening and contains salt. Salt helps your body retain water, and we don't want this in a heart patient.

You don't have to give up smoking entirely, unless your physician rules otherwise. We know that tobacco contracts the small surface blood vessels and that it can hinder the circulation in the legs.

But its effect upon the heart isn't too clear. Generally, we advise heart patients to cut down—maybe smoke only denicotinized cigarets — if they are habitual smokers, and to cut it out entirely if they can get along without smoking at all.

Question and Answer

A Reader: I am wondering if anything could be done to correct curvature of the spine in my 11-year-old son.

Answer: Much can be done to correct curvature of the spine in an 11-year-old boy. It would be advisable to consult an orthopedist (bone specialist) as soon as possible.

Uniform Real Property Rules To Be Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Uniform rules drafted by the state for valuation of real property for tax purposes will be reviewed, the Ohio Supreme Court said yesterday.

The High Court accepted the appeal of Cuyahoga County Auditor John J. Carney from a Franklin County Appellate Court decision holding the regulations valid. The appellate court reversed a common pleas court decision that upset the rules drafted in 1957 by the State Board of Tax Appeals.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the best kept secrets of 1959—and one of the real keys to the Berlin crisis—is the answer to a question which from now on will be crucial in the news about the Soviet Union, Germany and the West.

Do the Western Allies, despite their public show of solidarity about not budging on Berlin, have anything to offer in the way of ideas that might avoid a military showdown with the Soviets?

It has just been disclosed that the United States has drawn up the outlines of a peace treaty with Germany. Apparently, it is still in very sketchy form.

President Eisenhower hinted Monday night in his nationwide broadcast that the Allies do have new ideas and expect some from the U.S.S.R. He said no more. By his silence he drew a curtain across whatever ideas he has in mind.

This was natural enough, since before the United States unveils any plan it would need approval by France, Britain and West Germany. Lack of such approval would indicate the Allies had split wide open.

Some proposals to the Soviet Union—to avoid war over Berlin and seek instead a peaceful solution—will be at the heart of the discussions here this week between Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan.

From the beginning there have actually been three keys to the Berlin crisis:

1. How determined were the Soviets to back up their demand that the Allies get their troops out of Berlin? That question still is unanswered.

2. Would the Allies yield to this Soviet demand and witndraw? They already have said they would not.

3. If the U.S.S.R. insists the Allies get out but the Allies won't budge, then the only answer is a military showdown unless the two sides negotiate a settlement. But negotiate on what? What can either side propose that the other will accept?

Nobody in the West has yet been able to say positively why Premier Nikita Khrushchev precipitated the crisis in the first place with his demands against the Allies in Berlin.

So no one has been able to say positively how far he is willing to go to back up his demands. He himself has suggested negotiations —including a summit conference —to talk things out.

Eisenhower Monday night indicated a willingness to have a summit meeting next summer, but only if developments justify it.

At this moment—when neither the West nor the Soviet Union has yet produced ideas that would seem acceptable to the other—the situation remains frozen on the Soviet demand for the Allies to vacate Berlin and their public refusal to do so.

Unless they start talking, there will have to be a showdown of some kind. Such a showdown, if it comes, will probably be months away, for it is almost certain the two sides first will do some talking.

This is where the basic question comes in again: Talk on what?

DiSalle Raps Legal Gambling

No Move Planned On Charity Bingo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has reiterated his opposition to legalized gambling.

But he told newsmen that betting is permitted under law at race tracks, and that he will not move against charity bingo.

"I feel very strongly against legalized gambling," the goveror said. His statement followed receipt of letters commenting on his proposals for a czar to regulate horse racing in Ohio, and transfer of Liquor Board powers to the state liquor chief.

DiSalle said he has only one application for the job of racing czar, but that several Ohioans have written to him about his proposal to base the number of days of horse racing allotted in an area on a population formula.

The governor said he still is considering a message on racing to the Legislature after further talks with members of the State Racing Commission.

"I think we are beginning to see some light in this thing," DiSalle said.

He expressed belief that bingo could not be legalized under the State Constitution, although holding no personal objections to charity play.

The governor repeated claims that the liquor director should have some of the powers lodged with the liquor board, in able to fix responsibility. He said liquor enforcement is the primary responsibility of local communities.

"If they don't do that," he said, "they will run into difficulty on the withholding of license fees by the state."

Television Network To Link Red Stations

VIENNA (AP)—The Soviets are planning a television network linking East Europe's Communist capitals with Moscow.

The Hungarian news agency MTI said work has already started on relay towers 90 feet high to bring Soviet programs to Budapest. This link is to be completed by 1961.

Young Mother Allows Kids View Prostitutes at Work

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice probers have arrested a young mother for allegedly allowing prostitutes "to entertain male adults while children were present."

Five boys and five girls, between the ages of 10 and 15, were picked up in the investigation and taken to Children's Court on juvenile delinquency charges.

The woman, Elenore Diblin, 20, a slim brunette, was charged with impairing the morals of a minor and with assisting in the operation of a house used for assignation.

She is the wife of George Diblin, 41, also known as George Stevens, who is being sought by police for jumping $500 bail last month on a procuring charge.

Mrs. Diblin, married for two years to Diblin and mother of a 5-month-old boy, said she came to New York five years ago after running away from home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

First reports by police had indicated that the children participated in sex orgies, but the charge against Mrs. Diblin said only that they were present at such parties.

Detectives said Diblin lured children by providing them with small sums of money and by buying blouses for the girls and shirts for the boys.

They said that as many as 30 boys and girls were present at various times while prostitutes entertained men.

The five boys taken to court were from 11 to 14 years old and the five girls from 10 to 15.

Mrs. Diblin gave her address as 52 W. 70th St. Police said she helped operate an apartment at 400 W. 58th St., where her husband was seized last month.

They accused him of heading a ring of $100 call girls.

Police said information on the sex orgies came from Jo Anna Martin, a blonde who was picked up when Diblin was arrested, after she was found nude in a man's apartment. Police claimed Diblin sent her there after a phone call.

She pleaded guilty to loitering for the purposes of prostitution and promised she would cooperate with police. She received a suspended sentence.

The names of the 10 children were not released. They were charged with being juvenile delinquents and were sent to youth homes.

New Atomic Weapon To Fight Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A powerful new atomic weapon for research in cancer treatment—capable of directing 10 billion nuclear rays a second to a half-inch square area of tissue—has gone into operation, the Atomic Energy Commission announced today.

The device, the first nuclear reactor designed exclusively for medical use, is located in the medical research center at AEC's Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, N.Y.

The AEC said the new million-watt reactor "achieved criticality" — that is, began generating atomic energy—at 9:44 p.m. Sunday. It is expected to be ready for use with patients later this year.

One of its chief functions will be to expand research on a brain-tumor treatment technique pioneered at Brookhaven.

Over the last few years, AEC doctors told a reporter, a couple of dozen hopeless cases of brain tumor have been treated by the method. And while no cures were achieved—in fact, none were expected — AEC scientists believe life may have been prolonged a couple of months.

The hope now is to develop techniques for employing the method on additional types of brain tumor, and perhaps even treating certain types of cancers in other parts of the body—always with the hope of steadily improving the results.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has completed his radiation treatments for cancer. A State Department spokesman said doctors have yet to decide whether or when he can return to his desk.

The X-ray treatments began Feb. 20. They were reinforced two weeks ago with an injection of radioactive gold.

Dulles is suffering from abdominal glandular cancer. State Department press officer Lincoln White told newsmen he could not say how effective the treatment has been in checking the disease.

Ankara, capital of Turkey, has a population of 500,000.

COMPLETE MANPOWER calls for one man to mix, a man to operate and a man to take the newly made block into a steam room.

Block is left 24 hours in the steam room and is then stacked in the Dillard factory yard. Total manpower with block stackers is nine men.

The block curing process takes 21 days. With the addition of this machine, Sturm and Dillard increased its payroll three men.

When the machine is not in operation, the men are busy hauling sand and gravel or general maintenance repairs.

Being Cast in Play as God Is Difficult, Controversial

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—To attempt to portray God as a human being in the theater is difficult and controversial.

An intellectualized characterization of God currently is portrayed on Broadway in Archibald MacLeish's "J. B." Quite a different concept of God will be seen on television Monday March 25, when "Hallmark Hall of Fame" offers a repeat performance of Marc Connelly's "The Green Pastures" on NBC-TV.

William Warfield, who portrays De Lawd in the production, said the other day "This is not an adult, intellectual portrait of God. It represents what a little girl in a small Sunday School in the South some time ago conceives to be God."

Warfield, the noted baritone, played the same role in the 1958 "Hall of Fame" production of "The Green Pastures." Everyone in last year's all-Negro cast will appear again, except some of the Sunday School children who — as Warfield puts it, "just grew too big in one year."

To appear on the TV program Warfield turned down an opportunity to play the lead in "Othello" at the Shakespeare Theater, Stratford-on-Avon, England.

"But there's always a chance of playing 'Othello' again," he said, "and there's not always the chance to play 'The Green Pastures.' It's a wonderful play. Those who have qualms about it just don't understand it."

I asked him if he believed television would have produced the play if it had been written as an original.

"I don't know," Warfield replied. "That's a pretty generalized question and it's always hard to say what might happen to something under other circumstances. But I imagine that television might have been worried about the reaction of the Negro intelligentsia. There might have been fears that it presented the Negro as ignorant.

"But to me it doesn't do that at all. It's child-like, but that's its charm. It's imaginative and beautiful."

Being Cast in Play as God Is Difficult, Controversial

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—To attempt to portray God as a human being in the theater is difficult and controversial.

An intellectualized characterization of God currently is portrayed on Broadway in Archibald MacLeish's "J. B." Quite a different concept of God will be seen on television Monday March 23, when "Hallmark Hall of Fame" offers a repeat performance of Marc Connelly's "The Green Pastures" on NBC-TV.

William Warfield, who portrays De Lawd in the production, said the other day "This is not an adult, intellectual portrait of God. It represents what a little girl in a small Sunday School in the South some time ago conceives to be God."

Warfield, the noted baritone, played the same role in the 1958 "Hall of Fame" production of "The Green Pastures." Everyone in last year's all-Negro cast will appear again, except some of the Sunday School children who — as Warfield puts it, "just grew too big in one year."

To appear on the TV program Warfield turned down an opportunity to play the lead in "Othello" at the Shakespeare Theater, Stratford-on-Avon, England.

"But there's always a chance of playing 'Othello' again," he said, "and there's not always the chance to play 'The Green Pastures.' It's a wonderful play. Those who have qualms about it just don't understand it."

I asked him if he believed television would have produced the play if it had been written as an original.

"I don't know," Warfield replied. "That's a pretty generalized question and it's always hard to say what might happen to something under other circumstances. But I imagine that television might have been worried about the reaction of the Negro intelligentsia. There might have been fears that it presented the Negro as ignorant.

"But to me it doesn't do that at all. It's child-like, but that's its charm. It's imaginative and beautiful."

Girl, Nearly 21, Recovering After Crash Blanks Brain

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four years ago, Shirley Ferrell couldn't walk or talk. Next Sunday she will become old enough to vote.

A pretty brunette with a quick smile, Shirley is a girl with two lives. One life was snuffed out Nov. 23, 1954, when, as a 16-year-old Marion-Franklin High School sophomore, she suffered head injuries in a school bus crash.

The other began when she awoke in Children's Hospital, after five brain operations and eight weeks in a coma, unable to remember the accident, or even her name.

Shirley made headlines when Ohio State Journal stories told of the crash, which in a few seconds transformed a healthy, bustling straight "A" student into a child-like invalid whose mind was a blank.

Touched by her plight, friends, neighbors, corporations and total strangers gave the Elmer Ferrell family $5,400, and friends pitched in to help build them a new home.

This week, as Shirley thumbed through newspaper clippings about the bus accident, and chatted about her schooling, she demonstrated to newsmen the progress she has made.

Home from the hospital on Jan. 29, 1955, Shirley was like a person born again. She had to be dressed. And fed like a baby. And like a child, she used to put pencils, bobby pins, and all loose objects in her mouth. She also squirted toothpaste on her hair.

"Once," her mother, Maye remarked, "we gave her some lipstick to see if she would remember. She bit it in two."

Her parents, and twin sister, Betty, took turns teaching her to walk. Slowly, she also learned to talk.

"She learned to count first," her mother continued, "and not being able to remember names, she called everyone by numbers."

Shirley would summon her mother by calling "hey three," and refer to her father as No. 10.

She had to be reintroduced to everyone, and would only learn people's identities after being told their names time after time.

"We were afraid that she would not be able to learn," her mother said.

The fears have been allayed by Miss Ruth E. Woods, a Columbus public school teacher, who has conducted twice-a-week classes at Shirley's home since September 1956.

"When I started," Miss Woods declared, "Shirley didn't know she lived in Ohio or she didn't know that a carrot was a vegetable."

After only 2½ years, however, Shirley has advanced to sixth grade subjects. Her handwriting is excellent, and her typing is quite good. "I feel that her knowledge is really there. It just has to be recalled," the teacher said.

Although the effects of the accident would go unnoticed by a stranger, her parents pointed out that Shirley is still somewhat different than a sixth-grader, or a 21-year-old.

She is confused by directions, they said, and for that reason never ventures away from home alone. She forgets names of visitors, and is not interested in boys. She is more friendly now, her mother said, than before the accident.

Evidence of her recovery, however, is furnished in Shirley's own sense of humor. When her mother explained her old fears about Shirley being unable to do anything, she quipped: "You can help with the dishes anytime." And when she was asked about her schooling, she joked that she will "finish high school when I'm 26, and I'm an old maid."

Noteworthy, too, is the fact that she was bridesmaid for her sister, Betty, who was married to Michael Obert, 21, last Nov. 8 at St. Ladislaus Church. She remembered her instructions at the rehearsal, and went through the ceremony without making a miscue.

It was a solid achievement for a girl who has had moments of regret about having to go through school twice.

"If I could have one wish come true," she once told her teacher, "I would wish for my memory back."

U.S. Planning Three-in-One Satellite Shot

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is planning something new in satellites—a three-in-one job. It will be part of the Vanguard series and will include a balloon to study friction in space.

Dr. John P. Hagen announced plans for it and said it wil be launched soon from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

In effect, Hagen said, the new Vanguard will provide three separate satellites:

1. The empty case of the launching vehicle's third-stage rocket, a metal tube weighing about 52 pounds.

2. A 13-inch plastic sphere with an arm extending about two feet. There will be a magnetometer at the end of the arm to measure the earth's magnetic fields. This satellite will weigh about 22 pounds.

3. A 30-inch expandable balloon weighing 1½ to 2 pounds.

Before launching, the balloon will be folded into a small tray at the base of the plastic sphere. When the nose of the launching vehicle separates from the final stage rocket, a gas cartridge will inflate the balloon—if all goes as planned.

The balloon, because of its larger area and lighter weight, will slow down more rapidly than the two companion sateilites and thus provide a more precise measurement of drag and friction in space.

First German military men to get training in missiles since the end of World War II were recently graduated by U. S. Army at Huntsville, Ala. Now they will be trained in supersonic missiles at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

Local Police May Get More Liquor Enforcement Duties

CLEVELAND (AP)—State Liquor Enforcement Chief Ivan W. Smith says he is considering a plan which would leave the primary job of liquor enforcement up to local authorities.

Liquor agents would thus be "unhampered by routine complaints and minor infractions," Smith declared.

Smith was quoted in yesterday's Cleveland Plain Dealer as saying:

"We have assumed the primary responsibility in that field (enforcement of liquor laws), but the public has been demanding more and more of us until now we can no longer be held responsible.

"From the field of liquor we have been forced into the companion fields of rackets and vice until the burdens and obligations thrust upon us are mathematically impossible to overcome without increasing our small staff.

"We have been attempting an impossible task not intended by law.

"We are not abdicating from our responsibility. We are reorganizing our forces.

"At the moment we have a tentative plan. . .which wil leave local authorities with the primary job of enforcing the state liquor law.

"When we are done we hope to have at our disposal a group of highly trained professional investigators . . . able to move in force at the request of local police who desire our assistance and into areas where police are unable to or negligent in upholding the liquor laws."

The enforcement chief noted that the State Legislature provided that permit fees be returned to municipalities for the purpose of aiding liquor law enforcement by local authorities.

"The statutes provide also that these funds may be withheld if local authorities refuse or are found culpable neglectful of such enforcement.

"We have but 80 men and more than 22,500 permit premises in the state," Smith continued. "The number of police officers and sheriff's deputies runs into the thousands. This comparison makes more evident where the responsibility should rest."

Smith said he hopes to have the plan in effect before the new training school for agents opens June 29 at the Fairgrounds in Columbus.

Some agents would be left in each district under the tentative plan to act as liaison officers between the department and local officials.

Ireland now has a railway locomotive which burns peat instead of coal. Peat is low-grade coal, but it has so much water and vegetable matter that, usually, it cannot compete with more compact coal.

Solon Demands Curbs Against Soviet Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under the National Defense Act, the federal government gives schools money to buy scientific equipment. Rep. Harold C. Ostertag (R-NY) wants to make sure none of the equipment from the Soviets.

He said the Soviets plan to undersell American equipment by as much as 80 per cent. "This is an obvious propaganda maneuver to flood our schools and colleges with Soviet scientific equipment," he says.

Woman, 56, Confesses Hundreds of Thefts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Police say it may be impossible to determine the total loot in hundreds of office building thefts to which a white-haired matron has confessed.

The woman, who identified herself as Elizabeth O'Neill, 56, had more than 100 office keys in her possession when arrested Saturday. She said she had cancer and stole because she couldn't work, and never took more than $5 to $10 at a time.

West Ohio Gas Co. Plans Stock Deal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—West Ohio Gas Co. asked the Utilities Commission today for authority to declare a two per cent stock dividend, issue an additional 8,275 shares of common stock, and transfer $194,710 from earned surplus to capital stock and capital surplus accounts.

The dividend would be on the basis of one share for each 50 shares held by shareholders of record April 1 of this year, President Joe D. Reid said.

The company serves 36,000 customers in Lima, Wapakoneta, Kenton, Van Wert, Bluffton and 12 other communities.

Girl, Nearly 21, Recovering After Crash Blanks Brain

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four years ago, Shirley Ferrell couldn't walk or talk. Next Sunday she will become old enough to vote.

A pretty brunette with a quick smile, Shirley is a girl with two lives. One life was snuffed out Nov. 23, 1954, when, as a 16-year-old Marion-Franklin High School sophomore, she suffered head injuries in a school bus crash.

The other began when she awoke in Children's Hospital, after five brain operations and eight weeks in a coma, unable to remember the accident, or even her name.

Shirley made headlines when Ohio State Journal stories told of the crash, which in a few seconds transformed a healthy, bustling straight "A" student into a child-like invalid whose mind was a blank.

Touched by her plight, friends, neighbors, corporations and total strangers gave the Elmer Ferrell family $5,400, and friends pitched in to help build them a new home.

This week, as Shirley thumbed through newspaper clippings about the bus accident, and chatted about her schooling, she demonstrated to newsmen the progress she has made.

Home from the hospital on Jan. 29, 1955, Shirley was like a person born again. She had to be dressed. And fed like a baby. And like a child, she used to put pencils, bobby pins, and all loose objects in her mouth. She also squirted toothpaste on her hair.

"Once," her mother, Maye remarked, "we gave her some lipstick to see if she would remember. She bit it in two."

Her parents, and twin sister, Betty, took turns teaching her to walk. Slowly, she also learned to talk.

"She learned to count first," her mother continued, "and not being able to remember names, she called everyone by numbers."

Shirley would summon her mother by calling "hey three," and refer to her father as No. 10.

She had to be reintroduced to everyone, and would only learn people's identities after being told their names time after time.

"We were afraid that she would not be able to learn," her mother said.

The fears have been allayed by Miss Ruth E. Woods, a Columbus public school teacher, who has conducted twice-a-week classes at Shirley's home since September 1956.

"When I started," Miss Woods declared, "Shirley didn't know she lived in Ohio or she didn't know that a carrot was a vegetable."

After only 2½ years, nowever, Shirley has advanced to sixth grade subjects. Her handwriting is excellent, and her typing is quite good. "I feel that her knowledge is really there. It just has to be recalled," the teacher said.

Although the effects of the accident would go unnoticed by a stranger, her parents pointed out that Shirley is still somewhat different than a sixth-grader, or a 21-year-old.

She is confused by directions, they said, and for that reason never ventures away from home alone. She forgets names of visitors, and is not interested in boys. She is more friendly now, her mother said, than before the accident.

Evidence of her recovery, however, is furnished in Shirley's own sense of humor. When her mother explained her old fears about Shirley being unable to do anything, she quipped: "You can help with the dishes anytime." And when she was asked about her schooling, she joked that she will "finish high school when I'm 26, and I'm an old maid."

Noteworthy, too, is the fact that she was bridesmaid for her sister, Betty, who was married to Michael Obert, 21, last Nov. 8 at St. Ladislaus Church. She remembered her instructions at the rehearsal, and went through the ceremony without making a miscue.

It was a solid achievement for a girl who has had moments of regret about having to go through school twice.

"If I could have one wish come true," she once told her teacher, "I would wish for my memory back."

Strip-Mine Land Plantings Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The last of 10 contracts for planting trees, legumes and grasses on strip-mined land this spring have been awarded, the State Reclamation Division said today.

The division said 235,000 hardwood and pine trees will be planted on 262 acres this spring, and 70 acres will be planted with legumes and grasses.

Bond money forfeited by 10 operators in Athens, Carroll, Columbiana, Coshocton, Harrison, Hocking, Mahoning, Noble, Perry, Tuscarawas and Washington counties will pay for the work, the division added. Those engaged in strip mining post bond with the state, to be forfeited if they fail to plant trees, grasses or shrubs on the land after the mining is completed.

U.S. Planning Three-in-One Satellite Shot

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is planning something new in satellites—a three-in-one job. It will be part of the Vanguard series and will include a balloon to study friction in space.

Dr. John P. Hagen announced plans for it and said it wil be launched soon from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

In effect, Hagen said, the new Vanguard will provide three separate satellites:

1. The empty case of the launching vehicle's third-stage rocket, a metal tube weighing about 52 pounds.

2. A 13-inch plastic sphere with an arm extending about two feet. There will be a magnetometer at the end of the arm to measure the earth's magnetic fields. This satellite will weigh about 22 pounds.

3. A 30-inch expandable balloon weighing 1½ to 2 pounds.

Before launching, the balloon will be folded into a small tray at the base of the plastic sphere. When the nose of the launching vehicle separates from the final stage rocket, a gas cartridge will inflate the balloon—if all goes as planned.

The balloon, because of its larger area and lighter weight, will slow down more rapidly than the two companion satellites and thus provide a more precise measurement of drag and friction in space.

U.S. World Bank Fund To Upset Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, approving more U.S. funds for the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, has specified they are to come out of next year's budget.

The action, by unanimous vote would wreck President Eisnhower's hopes of a balanced budget for the year beginning July 1. The President had asked for the funds for the current fiscal year, and had included the spending in the deficit of nearly 13 billion dollars he forecast for the fiscal year ending June 30.

For the next year, Eisenhower submitted a budget precariously balanced on the assumption that Congress would provide increased gasoline taxes and postal revenues, actions that now seem unlikely.

But the Senate Committee, approving the proposed $1,375,000,000 increase in the U.S. subscription to the International Monetary Fund, specified it shall come out of the new budget.

A proposed increase of $3,175,000,000 in capital stock of the World Bank would not affect the budget directly.

Republican leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois expressed surprise at the committee's action.

Great Lakes Shippers Itch To Open Navigation Season

CLEVELAND (AP) — Great Lakes shippers are anxious to get the 1959 navigation season started. They may be delayed by the worst ice conditions in years.

The Coast Guard won't predict an opening date for navigation, but if ice conditions aren't too severe it should be early in April.

Prompting the rush is the current production rate of the nation's steel mills; demand is increasing for iron ore, the lakes' most important cargo.

The rush to get ships into commission this year is good news for the lakes' 12,000 sailors. Many spent last year ashore and unemployed during the recession.

As for the ice, the toughest battle is always on the 86-mile-long St. Mary's River and Whitefish Bay, doorway to Lake Superior and the major iron ore loading ports.

Whitefish Bay and Lake Superior are almost frozen over, the Coast Guard reports. Only 40 per cent is usually ice-covered at this time of year.

The Lake Carriers' Assn. took the first step toward opening the 1959 season when its ice committee met March 11. The committee, which meets annually, determines two important dates in consultation with the Coast Guard, the U.S. Weather Bureau and other observers:

1—When to attempt navigation on the lower lakes—Ontario, Erie, Huron and Michigan — and the Straits of the Mackinac. A tentative date of April 1 has been set by the Coast Guard to try to clear the straits.

2—When to attempt the big breakthrough into Lake Superior. That question will have to be answered later.

This season, unlike last season, fleet operators are planning full scale operations during 1959. The only possible crimp would be a steel strike this summer.

There's still plenty of ore stockpiled at docks and furnaces, more than 16 million tons. But during the winter, when the lakes were frozen shut, steel mills were taking bigger and bigger bites of the inventory.

In January, iron ore consumption exceeded that of any 1958 month. And stocks fell below the 1958 level.

Dwindling stock piles and increased steel production are sweet music to the lakes trade. It means plenty of work in 1959 after a lean year.

Ohio Reformatory Crowding Studied

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A solution to the "critical," overcrowded situation at the Ohio Reformatory here was sought today by Maury C. Koblentz, chief of the Correction Division of the State Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

The institution, originally built to house 2,000, has an all-time high of 3,286 today, said Koblentz. He attributed the situation to the increased crime rate among persons under 20 years of age.

Meeting with Koblentz were George J. Allarding, acting superintendent of the reformatory, and Malcolm Geddis, supervisor of classification for the division.

A way must be found to relieve the critical overcrowding, since the new reformatory at Lebanon will not be ready until next year, added Koblentz.

Truman Declines Editorship Deal

BOSTON (AP) — Former President Harry Truman has turned down an offer to be a newspaper editor for a day.

The job was offered him by the Boston Globe after Truman told the University of Missouri School of Journalism that he wished he could be a newspaper editor for a while.

The Globe said it received a letter from Truman Tuesday in which he refused the offer and said: "You see, the difference between your profession and mine is that the editors know all about how another man's business ought to be run, while I do not pretend to know the mechanics of yours."

How To Pay Off Uncle Sam

Differing Tax Rules Cited In Making Income Report

Editor's Note:
Each dependent you can claim shrinks your taxable income by $600. So it's important for you to know just whom you're entitled to list on your federal return. The following article, fourth of five stories on the income tax, gives you the ground rules.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—In filing your 1958 income tax return, be sure you take a $600 exemption for every dependent you can justly claim. For each it means $600 off your income before what's left is taxed.

Who's a dependent? He could be your own child, a relative, or even a friend. But the rules are different for different kinds of dependents.

You can claim as a dependent your own child, adopted child or stepchild if he got more than half his support from you in 1958 and even if—provided he was under 19—he had $600 or more income of his own.

If your under-19 child had that much income he would, of course, have to file his own return and claim his own $600 exemption. But—

Since he was under 19 and got more than half his support from you, you could still claim him as a dependent on your return, take a $600 exemption for him, and not even have to include his income in yours.

Further: That child wouldn't have had to live with you in 1958, so long as you provided more than half his support. For example: You may have been separated from your wife and the child may have been living with her.

But if you had a child 19 years or older, you could not claim him as a dependent, even though you provided more than half his support, if he had $600 or more income—unless he was a fulltime student.

No child—except the taxpayer's own—can be claimed as a dependent if he had $600 income, regardless of his age or status as a student. And you can't claim for a dependent an extra $600 exemption because he was blind or over 65.

(Note, this, too: If your child, stepchild or adopted child received a school scholarship, it is not considered in figuring whether you provided more than half his support.)

Support, in the case of a dependent, includes money spent on food, shelter, clothing, education, medical and dental care, entertainment, transportation and other necessities.

As for relatives you want to claim as dependents:

You can claim as a dependent a person related to you—the kind of relationship is given below—if he did not have $600 or more income and got more than half his support from you. Such a dependent relative, unlike the dependent friend, would not have had to live in your house during the year.

For example: You may have provided more than half the support for your widowed mother who is living with your sister.

But note this: When anyone is trying to determine whether he had enough income to require his filing a tax return, there are certain kinds of nontaxable income which he does not have to report or include. Example: Social Security benefits, life insurance proceeds, armed forces family allotments, and so on.

These are the relatives you can claim as dependents if the other requirements are met:

Your child or his child (a legally adopted child is considered your child); your stepchild but not his child; your brother; sister; half-sister; stepbrother; stepsister; your parents; grandparents (but not foster-parents); your stepfather or stepmother; a brother or sister of your father or mother; a son or daughter of your brother or sister; your father-in-law; your mother-in-law; son-in-law; daughter-in-law; brother-in-law; or sister-in-law.

One thing more: You can claim as a dependent only a person who is a citizen or resident of this country or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Canal Zone of the Republic of Panama.

How To Pay Off Uncle Sam

Differing Tax Rules Cited In Making Income Report

Editor's Note:
Each dependent you can claim shrinks your taxable income by $600. So it's important for you to know just whom you're entitled to list on your federal return. The following article, fourth of five stories on the income tax, gives you the ground rules.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—In filing your 1958 income tax return, be sure you take a $600 exemption for every dependent you can justly claim. For each it means $600 off your income before what's left is taxed.

Who's a dependent? He could be your own child, a relative, or even a friend. But the rules are different for different kinds of dependents.

You can claim as a dependent your own child, adopted child or stepchild if he got more than half his support from you in 1958 and even if—provided he was under 19—he had $600 or more income of his own.

If your under-19 child had that much income he would, of course, have to file his own return and claim his own $600 exemption. But—

Since he was under 19 and got more than half his support from you, you could still claim him as a dependent on your return, take a $600 exemption for him, and not even have to include his income in yours.

Further: That child wouldn't have had to live with you in 1958, so long as you provided more than half his support. For example: You may have been separated from your wife and the child may have been living with her.

But if you had a child 19 years or older, you could not claim him as a dependent, even though you provided more than half his support, if he had $600 or more income—unless he was a fulltime student.

No child—except the taxpayer's own—can be claimed as a dependent if he had $600 income, regardless of his age or status as a student. And you can't claim for a dependent an extra $600 exemption because he was blind or over 65.

(Note, this, too: If your child, stepchild or adopted child received a school scholarship, it is not considered in figuring whether you provided more than half his support.)

Support, in the case of a dependent, includes money spent on food, shelter, clothing, education, medical and dental care, entertainment, transportation and other necessities.

As for relatives you want to claim as dependents:

You can claim as a dependent a person related to you—the kind of relationship is given below—if he did not have $600 or more income and got more than half his support from you. Such a dependent relative, unlike the dependent friend, would not have had to live in your house during the year.

But note this: When anyone is trying to determine whether he had enough income to require his filing a tax return, there are certain kinds of nontaxable income which he does not have to report or include. Example: Social Security benefits, life insurance proceeds, armed forces family allotments, and so on.

One thing more: You can claim as a dependent only a person who is a citizen or resident of this country or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Canal Zone of the Republic of Panama.

U.S. World Bank Fund To Upset Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, approving more U.S. funds for the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, has specified they are to come out of next year's budget.

The action, by unanimous vote would wreck President Eisnhower's hopes of a balanced budget for the year beginning July 1. The President had asked for the funds for the current fiscal year, and had included the spending in the deficit of nearly 13 billion dollars he forecast for the fiscal year ending June 30.

For the next year, Eisenhower submitted a budget precariously balanced on the assumption that Congress would provide increased gasoline taxes and postal revenues, actions that now seem unlikely.

But the Senate Committee, approving the proposed $1,375,000,000 increase in the U.S. subscription to the International Monetary Fund, specified it shall come out of the new budget.

A proposed increase of $3,175,000,000 in capital stock of the World Bank would not affect the budget directly.

Republican leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois expressed surprise at the committee's action.

Great Lakes Shippers Itch To Open Navigation Season

CLEVELAND (AP) — Great Lakes shippers are anxious to get the 1959 navigation season started. They may be delayed by the worst ice conditions in years.

The Coast Guard won't predict an opening date for navigation, but if ice conditions aren't too severe it should be early in April.

Prompting the rush is the current production rate of the nation's steel mills; demand is increasing for iron ore, the lakes' most important cargo.

The rush to get ships into commission this year is good news for the lakes' 12,000 sailors. Many spent last year ashore and unemployed during the recession.

As for the ice, the toughest battle is always on the 86-mile-long St. Mary's River and Whitefish Bay, doorway to Lake Superior and the major iron ore loading ports.

Whitefish Bay and Lake Superior are almost frozen over, the Coast Guard reports. Only 40 per cent is usually ice-covered at this time of year.

The Lake Carriers' Assn. took the first step toward opening the 1959 season when its ice committee met March 11. The committee, which meets annually, determines two important dates in consultation with the Coast Guard, the U.S. Weather Bureau and other observers:

1—When to attempt navigation on the lower lakes—Ontario, Erie, Huron and Michigan — and the Straits of the Mackinac. A tentative date of April 1 has been set by the Coast Guard to try to clear the straits.

2—When to attempt the big breakthrough into Lake Superior. That question will have to be answered later.

This season, unlike last season, fleet operators are planning full scale operations during 1959. The only possible crimp would be a steel strike this summer.

There's still plenty of ore stockpiled at docks and furnaces, more than 16 million tons. But during the winter, when the lakes were frozen shut, steel mills were taking bigger and bigger bites of the inventory.

In January, iron ore consumption exceeded that of any 1958 month. And stocks fell below the 1958 level.

Dwindling stock piles and increased steel production are sweet music to the lakes trade. It means plenty of work in 1959 after a lean year.

Ohio Reformatory Crowding Studied

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A solution to the "critical," overcrowded situation at the Ohio Reformatory here was sought today by Maury C. Koblentz, chief of the Correction Division of the State Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

The institution, originally built to house 2,000, has an all-time high of 3,286 today, said Koblentz. He attributed the situation to the increased crime rate among persons under 20 years of age.

Meeting with Koblentz were George J. Allarding, acting superintendent of the reformatory, and Malcolm Geddis, supervisor of classification for the division.

A way must be found to relieve the critical overcrowding, since the new reformatory at Lebanon will not be ready until next year, added Koblentz.

Truman Declines Editorship Deal

BOSTON (AP) — Former President Harry Truman has turned down an offer to be a newspaper editor for a day.

The job was offered him by the Boston Globe after Truman told the University of Missouri School of Journalism that he wished he could be a newspaper editor for a while.

The Globe said it received a letter from Truman Tuesday in which he refused the offer and said: "You see, the difference between your profession and mine is that the editors know all about how another man's business ought to be run, while I do not pretend to know the mechanics of yours."

Capital Goods Spending Seen On Increase

Construction Industry Sees Its Weak Sister Perking Up This Year

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The weak sister in the construction industry shows signs of perking up today.

A modest increase in business spending for new plant and equipment is getting under way. Most of it may be for new machinery to cut rising labor costs. But some of it will be for enlarging factories or building new plants.

The construction industry as a whole isn't suffering. Total spending last year rose to a new high, the notable increases being in home building and government projects.

These two, especially public construction, are expected to carry the ball this year.

Predictions on 1959 spending by business for capital goods are based on two things:

1. The Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission query corporate executives on their plans. These intentions now add up to 32 billion dollars for this year, a 4 per cent gain over last year's recession-hit outlay of 30½ billion, but still well below the 1957 outlay of 37¼ billion.

2. The National Industrial Conference Board asks leading manufacturers what sums their directors have actually approved for expansion. This shows now that appropriations are rising and would indicate that sometime in the future the actual money will be spent.

There's a catch to both these prediction methods. Businessmen can change their minds. Plans can be shelved or increased. Appropriations can be held up or fattened.

Or, the recovery could pick up speed, and business spending increase more than the predicted 4 per cent.

Businesses have poured nearly 132 billion dollars into new plant and equipment in the last four years. In the 1955-57 period this was one of the big factors in the general boom. The sharp cutback in 1958 was a chief reason for the recession being so steep.

Some of the biggest gains expected in spending this year are: 27 per cent for transportation other than rail; 8 per cent by the nondurable goods industries; 7 per cent by the durable goods industries.

The real increase in such spending, however, is expected to come in 1960 and 1961, when today's unused industrial facilities should be fully employed.

9 Governors, Ike To Confer On Idle Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors of eight states and Hawaii have been invited to meet with President Eisenhower Monday to discuss jobless pay.

In announcing the invitations Tuesday, the White House said the purpose of the meeting is to explore "ways to strengthen the regular federal-state unemployment compensation program."

In addition to Hawaii's governor, the invitations went to the chief executives of Florida, Illinois, Mississippi, New Jersey, West Virginia, North Dakota, Utah and Colorado. All nine are members of the executive committee of the National Governors Conference.

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, 18 Democratic senators described the jobless pay extension bill passed by the House Monday as "almost totally inadequate."

In a letter to Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) of the Senate Finance Committee they called for committee hearings on ways to do more for the unemployed.

Byrd has set Friday for consideration of the House bill. There are indications his committee will send it to the floor promptly, probably without public hearings.

The House bill would extend the temporary federal program of extra jobless benefits for three months to next June 30.

Hawaii To Alter Geographic Center

WASHINGTON (AP)—Entry of Hawaii as a state will move the geographic center of the United States six miles but it will remain in Butte County, S.D.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey announced today the new center will be six miles west-southwest of its old location. It's now about 17 miles west of Castle Rock, S.D.

The center was moved last July when Alaskan statehood was voted. At that time it was relocated 439 miles northwest of its site near Lebanon, Kan.

Rear Adm. H. Arnold Karo, survey director, said the new location is at latitude 44 degrees 58 minutes north and longitude 103 degrees 46 minutes west.

Park Service Home-Building Fund Is Hit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A request by the National Park Service for $60,000 for building two homes for employes in Hawaii stirred opposition within a House Appropriations subcommittee, it was disclosed today.

"I want every man in the National Park Service to live in a good home," put in Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Ohio), chairman of the subcommittee. "But the taxpayer cannot afford two of them at a cost of $66,000."

Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton, who was testifying at the time, said he would take a closer look at housing proposals for park service employes.

A transcript of the closed hearing, just made public, also showed that Kirwan objected to $20,000 houses for employes of Everglades National Park in Florida. Kirwan said that in Florida 6 of every 10 houses are made of cinder blocks and "they make beautiful homes."

"But," he added, "we saw houses in the Everglades National Park using more expensive cement bricks with higher labor costs and indirect lighting which are costing over $20,000. There is no need for that."

Seaton said he was grateful to the committee for calling the items to his attention and added later "It occurs to me that I ought to make a little closer inspection on some of this housing. . . ."

The sudden switch was announced by the lawyer for Frank Valenti, 36, and Costenze Valenti, 32, both of Rochester, N.Y.

The Valenti brothers and five other men have been in jail here since last August for clamming up when called as witnesses before the commission.

All seven are listed by authorities among the 60-odd underworld figures and associates who attended the meeting Nov. 14, 1957. They were given indefinite jail terms for contempt. The plan has been to keep them in jail until they answer questions.

Capital Goods Spending Seen On Increase

Construction Industry Sees Its Weak Sister Perking Up This Year

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The weak sister in the construction industry shows signs of perking up today.

A modest increase in business spending for new plant and equipment is getting under way. Most of it may be for new machinery to cut rising labor costs. But some of it will be for enlarging factories or building new plants.

The construction industry as a whole isn't suffering. Total spending last year rose to a new high, the notable increases being in home building and government projects.

These two, especially public construction, are expected to carry the ball this year.

Predictions on 1959 spending by business for capital goods are based on two things:

1. The Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission query corporate executives on their plans. These intentions now add up to 32 billion dollars for this year, a 4 per cent gain over last year's recession-hit outlay of 30½ billion, but still well below the 1957 outlay of 37¼ billion.

2. The National Industrial Conference Board asks leading manufacturers what sums their directors have actually approved for expansion. This shows now that appropriations are rising and would indicate that sometime in the future the actual money will be spent.

There's a catch to both these prediction methods. Businessmen can change their minds. Plans can be shelved or increased. Appropriations can be held up or fattened.

Or, the recovery could pick up speed, and business spending increase more than the predicted 4 per cent.

Businesses have poured nearly 132 billion dollars into new plant and equipment in the last four years. In the 1955-57 period this was one of the big factors in the general boom. The sharp cutback in 1958 was a chief reason for the recession being so steep.

Some of the biggest gains expected in spending this year are: 27 per cent for transportation other than rail; 8 per cent by the nondurable goods industries; 7 per cent by the durable goods industries.

The real increase in such spending, however, is expected to come in 1960 and 1961, when today's unused industrial facilities should be fully employed.

9 Governors, Ike To Confer On Idle Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors of eight states and Hawaii have been invited to meet with President Eisenhower Monday to discuss jobless pay.

In announcing the invitations Tuesday, the White House said the purpose of the meeting is to explore "ways to strengthen the regular federal-state unemployment compensation program."

In addition to Hawaii's governor, the invitations went to the chief executives of Florida, Illinois, Mississippi, New Jersey, West Virginia, North Dakota, Utah and Colorado. All nine are members of the executive committee of the National Governors Conference.

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, 18 Democratic senators described the jobless pay extension bill passed by the House Monday as "almost totally inadequate."

In a letter to Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) of the Senate Finance Committee they called for committee hearings on ways to do more for the unemployed.

Byrd has set Friday for consideration of the House bill. There are indications his committee will send it to the floor promptly, probably without public hearings.

The House bill would extend the temporary federal program of extra jobless benefits for three months to next June 30.

Hawaii To Alter Geographic Center

WASHINGTON (AP)—Entry of Hawaii as a state will move the geographic center of the United States six miles but it will remain in Butte County, S.D.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey announced today the new center will be six miles west-southwest of its old location. It's now about 17 miles west of Castle Rock, S.D.

The center was moved last July when Alaskan statehood was voted. At that time it was relocated 439 miles northwest of its site near Lebanon, Kan.

Rear Adm. H. Arnold Karo, survey director, said the new location is at latitude 44 degrees 58 minutes north and longitude 103 degrees 46 minutes west.

Davey Moore Wins Crown As King of Featherweights

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New world featherweight champion Davey Moore said today his next encounter will not be the promised rematch with ex-champ Hogan (Kid) Bassey, but with a set of inflamed tonsils.

"Those doggone tonsils almost cost me the chance at the title," said Moore who Wednesday night lifted the crown from the bloody but unbowed head of the well-muscled ex-champ from British Nigeria.

"Davey had a sore throat and a 101-degree temperature last Sunday," said his manager, Willie Ketchum. "I almost called off the fight."

But the sharpshooting Moore showed no signs of illness as he slashed Bassey's face into a grotesque, bloody mask before 10,129 wildly shouting fans in Olympic Auditorium.

After the 13th round, Bassey's manager, George Biddles, shouted to referee Tommy Hart: "Stop the fight. My fighter has had it."

"I couldn't see. I couldn't see," Bassey yelled above the din. "The blood was running in my eyes."

Moore hopped gleefully across the ring, threw his arm about Bassey and shouted: "Well, it's like this, Hoag—you had that title and I wanted it, man."

"Yes, Yes," said Bassey in his clipped British West African accent. "I could not continue. I could not do an impossibility."

It was the third time Bassey had been stopped on cut eyes.

A rematch is slated within 90 days in Los Angeles. However, Moore's tonsil operation probably will delay the rematch. Then, too, Bassey's eye cuts may take longer than three months to heal.

Moore admitted he was a bit tense in the opening rounds. He looked it, too, as the strong and hard-socking Bassey blazed away with his murderous left hook.

In the third round Moore jabbed open a cut over the champion's right eye.

"Get the eye. Get the eye," counseled manager Ketchum between rounds. And Moore did exactly that. By the seventh, the champion's face was a puddle of blood.

Bassey picked up a guaranteed $45,000 plus television rights. Moore was guaranteed 20 per cent of the gate of $65,602.

Major League Prospects

Cardinals Expect 1st Division Berth

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Solly Hemus doesn't underestimate the task confronting him in his first season as a big league manager but he firmly believes he can lift the St. Louis Cardinals out of the second division.

The major's youngest and newest pilot, is an optimist at heart. He thinks his club can go all the way if it can come up with a hard-hitting right fielder, and if two or three of the young pitchers carry their impressive exhibition work into the regular season.

"It's a pretty good ball club," he said, "better than most people realize."

The scrappy little pilot singled out several youngsters who he believes will make a contender out of the Redbirds.

"Barring a complete reversal of form," he said, "three of our young pitchers — Ernie Broglio, Gary Blaylock and Bob Ginson—have earned a place on the staff. Broglio will be a starter along with Sam Jones, Larry Jackson and Vinegar Bend Mizell.

"Chuck Essigian, whom we acquired from Philadelphia, is in line for a shot at the regular right field job although Bobby Gene Smith, Curt Flood, Gene Liver and Ellis Burton are still in the running."

The biggest surprise in camp, however, is Julio Gotay, a 19-year-old Puerto Rican, who had had only two years of professional experience and last year played with dinipeg of the Class C. Northern League. The unheraided youngster has made such a fine impression at shortstop that Hemus has tabbed him as the one to beat for the regular job.

"So far he's made all the plays," said Solly. "He has good power, a strong arm and he can run." with the exception of right field and shortstop, Hemus has his opening lineup all set. He listed it as follows: Don Blasingame, 2b; Gino Cimoli, cf; Stan Musial, lf; Ken Boyer, 3b; Joe Cunningham, 1b; Gene Green, c; and possible Jones, p.

Home Floor Edge Doubted

NCAA Tourney Coach Belittles Advantage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Take a hot team like Louisville, blend in a heaping portion of home court advantage and you have the probable favorite in the NCAA basketball championships at Freedom Hall here Friday and Saturday.

Or do you? Coach Pete Newell of California's Pacific Coast Conference champions—for one—isn't buying the Louisville advantage.

"In a tournament like this," Newell said today, "a home team doesn't have nearly the advantage it has for a regular season game.

"For one thing, the men officiating the games all are from different sections of the country. The rules sometimes are interpreted differently and whatever advantage a team might have would tend to be minimized."

"For another," Newell added, "with a tournament like this, the folks are here to see the championship decided not to root solely for the home team."

Newell's Golden Bears, who swept past Utah and St. Mary's in the Far West NCAA regional last weekend while pushing their winning streak to 14, face Cincinnati and the great Oscar Robertson in the second game of Friday's semifinal program.

Louisville, a surprise survivor after successive upsets of defending champ Kentucky and Big Ten king Michigan State in the Mid-East regional, meets West Virginia's Southern Conference champions in the opener at 8:30 p.m.

California was the first of the three visiting teams to arrive flying in Wednesday in time for a workout. West Virginia and Cincinnati were due in today.

Track Team Opens Season On April 7

Circleville High School's track squad will open its 1959 season on April 7 at Wilmington.

To date the Tiger thinclads have been working inside the gym in preparation for outside drills which will come as soon as the weather permits.

This year's squad will be headed by several returning lettermen, including speedster Junior Denny, Larry Hannahs and Gary Vandemark. Denny, a junior, excels in the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, the high jump and the broad jump. Hannahs heaves the shot and is a candidate for the relay events. Vandemark specializes in the 440-yard dash.

The schedule calls for 11 outings for the Tigers, including the South Central Ohio League meet on May 6 at Franklin Heights, the Arlington Relays on May 8 and the district meet on May 15 and 16.

Several of the locals' meets may be triangular events if additional opponents can be added to the schedule:

Apr. 7—at Wilmington
Apr. 9—at Grandview (triangular with Westerville)
Apr. 13—at Chillicothe
Apr. 15—at Washington C. H. (triangular with London)
Apr. 22—at Franklin Heights
Apr. 24—at Logan (night)
Apr. 28—at Lancaster
Apr. 30—at Greenfield
May 6—at Franklin Heights (SCO Meet)
May 8—Arlington Relays
May 15-16—district

Bevo Francis Back Playing Basketball

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Bevo Francis has given up his job as a pottery worker here to return to basketball, the sport which catapulted him into national fame a few years ago with Rio Grande College.

His wife confirmed today the 6-foot-9 Francis recently signed a three-year contract with the "Satellites," a professional basketball team from Grand Rapids, Mich. The team tours in the Midwest and is somewhere in Iowa, she said.

Francis said recently he didn't want to play any more basketball and was contented with his job as a potteryworker. "He went back to basketball because the offer was just too good to turn down," his wife said. She declined to say how much money Francis is getting.

Rain Curtails Redleg Practice

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Eight days of bad weather, mostly rain, are making it hard for Mayo Smith, Cincinnati Redlegs Manager not only to conduct day-to-day drills, but plan for the season ahead, beginning April 9.

Rain drove the team into a stock-barn on the Tampa Fairgrounds Wednesday for what passed as pitchers' practice.

"Rain doesn't bring out a thing in a pitcher," rued Smith. "A thing except moaning, that is, because he doesn't get a chance to work.

Davey Moore Wins Crown As King of Featherweights

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New world featherweight champion Davey Moore said today his next encounter will not be the promised rematch with ex-champ Hogan (Kid) Bassey, but with a set of inflamed tonsils.

"Those doggone tonsils almost cost me the chance at the title," said Moore who Wednesday night lifted the crown from the bloody but unbowed head of the well-muscled ex-champ from British Nigeria.

"Davey had a sore throat and a 101-degree temperature last Sunday," said his manager, Willie Ketchum. "I almost called off the fight."

But the sharpshooting Moore showed no signs of illness as he slashed Bassey's face into a grotesque, bloody mask before 10,129 wildly shouting fans in Olympic Auditorium.

After the 13th round, Bassey's manager, George Biddles, shouted to referee Tommy Hart: "Stop the fight. My fighter has had it."

"I couldn't see. I couldn't see," Bassey yelled above the din. "The blood was running in my eyes."

Moore hopped gleefully across the ring, threw his arm about Bassey and shouted: "Well, it's like this, Hoag—you had that title and I wanted it, man."

"Yes, Yes," said Bassey in his clipped British West African accent. "I could not continue. I could not do an impossibility."

It was the third time Bassey had been stopped on cut eyes.

A rematch is slated within 90 days in Los Angeles. However, Moore's tonsil operation probably will delay the rematch. Then, too, Bassey's eye cuts may take longer than three months to heal.

Moore admitted he was a bit tense in the opening rounds. He looked it, too, as the strong and hard-socking Bassey blazed away with his murderous left hook.

In the third round Moore jabbed open a cut over the champion's right eye.

"Get the eye. Get the eye," counseled manager Ketchum between rounds. And Moore did exactly that. By the seventh, the champion's face was a puddle of blood.

Bassey picked up a guaranteed $45,000 plus television rights. Moore was guaranteed 20 per cent of the gate of $65,602.

Major League Prospects

Cardinals Expect 1st Division Berth

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Solly Hemus doesn't underestimate the task confronting him in his first season as a big league manager but he firmly believes he can lift the St. Louis Cardinals out of the second division.

The major's youngest and newest pilot, is an optimist at heart. He thinks his club can go all the way if it can come up with a hard-hitting right fielder, and if two or three of the young pitchers carry their impressive exhibition work into the regular season.

"It's a pretty good ball club" he said, "better than most people realize."

The scrappy little pilot singled out several youngsters who he believes will make a contender out of the Redbirds.

"Barring a complete reversal of form," he said, "three of our young pitchers — Ernie Broglio, Gary Blaylock and Bob Ginson—have earned a place on the staff. Broglio will be a starter along with Sam Jones, Larry Jackson and Vinegar Bend Mizell.

"Chuck Essigian, whom we acquired from Philadelphia, is in line for a shot at the regular right field job although Bobby Gene Smith, Curt Flood, Gene Liver and Ellis Burton are still in the running."

The biggest surprise in camp, however, is Julio Gotay, a 19-year-old Puerto Rican, who had had only two years of professional experience and last year played with dinipeg of the Class C Northern League. The unheraided youngster has made such a fine impression at shortstop that Hemus has tabbed him as the one to beat for the regular job.

"So far he's made all the plays," said Solly. "He has good power, a strong arm and he can run." with the exception of right field and shortstop, Hemus has his opening lineup all set. He listed it as follows: Don Blasingame, 2b; Gino Cimoli, cf; Stan Musial, lf; Ken Boyer, 3b; Joe Cunningham, 1b; Gene Green, c; and possible Jones, p.

Home Floor Edge Doubted

NCAA Tourney Coach Belittles Advantage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —Take a hot team like Louisville, blend in a heaping portion of home court advantage and you have the probable favorite in the NCAA basketball championships at Freedom Hall here Friday and Saturday.

Or do you? Coach Pete Newell of California's Pacific Coast Conference champions—for one—isn't buying the Louisville advantage.

"In a tournament like this," Newell said today, "a home team doesn't have nearly the advantage it has for a regular season game.

"For one thing, the men officiating the games all are from different sections of the country. The rules sometimes are interpreted differently and whatever advantage a team might have would tend to be minimized."

"For another," Newell added, "with a tournament like this, the folks are here to see the championship decided not to root solely for the home team."

Newell's Golden Bears, who swept past Utah and St. Mary's in the Far West NCAA regional last weekend while pushing their winning streak to 14, face Cincinnati and the great Oscar Robertson in the second game of Friday's semifinal program.

Louisville, a surprise survivor after successive upsets of defending champ Kentucky and Big Ten king Michigan State in the Mid-East regional, meets West Virginia's Southern Conference champions in the opener at 8:30 p.m.

California was the first of the three visiting teams to arrive flying in Wednesday in time for a workout. West Virginia and Cincinnati were due in today.

Track Team Opens Season On April 7

Circleville High School's track squad will open its 1959 season on April 7 at Wilmington.

To date the Tiger thinclads have been working inside the gym in preparation for outside drills which will come as soon as the weather permits.

This year's squad will be headed by several returning lettermen, including speedster Junior Denny, Larry Hannahs and Gary Vandemark. Denny, a junior, excels in the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, the high jump and the broad jump. Hannahs heaves the shot and is a candidate for the relay events. Vandemark specializes in the 440-yard dash.

The schedule calls for 11 outings for the Tigers, including the South Central Ohio League meet on May 6 at Franklin Heights, the Arlington Relays on May 8 and the district meet on May 15 and 16.

Several of the locals' meets may be triangular events if additional opponents can be added to the schedule:

Apr. 7—at Wilmington
Apr. 9—at Grandview (triangular with Westerville)
Apr. 13—at Chillicothe
Apr. 15—at Washington C. H. (triangular with London)
Apr. 22—at Franklin Heights
Apr. 24—at Logan (night)
Apr. 28—at Lancaster
Apr. 30—at Greenfield
May 6—at Franklin Heights (SCO Meet)
May 8—Arlington Relays
May 15-16—district

Bevo Francis Back Playing Basketball

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) —Bevo Francis has given up his job as a pottery worker here to return to basketball, the sport which catapulted him into national fame a few years ago with Rio Grande College.

His wife confirmed today the 6-foot-9 Francis recently signed a three-year contract with the "Satellites," a professional basketball team from Grand Rapids, Mich. The team tours in the Midwest and is somewhere in Iowa, she said.

Francis said recently he didn't want to play any more basketball and was contented with his job as a potteryworker. "He went back to basketball because the offer was just too good to turn down," his wife said. She declined to say how much money Francis is getting.

Rain Curtails Redleg Practice

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Eight days of bad weather, mostly rain, are making it hard for Mayo Smith, Cincinnati Redlegs Manager not only to conduct day-to-day drills, but plan for the season ahead, beginning April 9.

Rain drove the team into a stock-barn on the Tampa Fairgrounds Wednesday for what passed as pitchers' practice.

"Rain doesn't bring out a thing in a pitcher," rued Smith. "A thing except moaning, that is, because he doesn't get a chance to work.

King Leads Centralia Five

Elwood King dominated the Centralia Bulldog team standings for the past season with a 45 field goal shooting percentage, notching 104 of 229 attempts.

Top foul line shooter was Russ Mettler with 27 successful tries in 39 attempts for 69 per cent. Sonny Harrison was Centralia's top scorer with 272 points for a 14.4 average.

Three of Centralia's starters hit more than 200 points. King narrowly missed scoring leadership, trailing Harrison seven points for a 13.8 average.

As a team the Bulldogs attempted 1,208 field goals, making 452 for a 37.4 average. From the charity line, Centralia attempted 390, connecting on 234 for a 60 per cent average.

Centralia committed 330 personal fouls and 271 turnovers. As a team, the Bulldogs grabbed 990 rebounds, led by King. They scored 1,138 points in 19 games.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

It's Time To Come Clean

DEAR ABBY: This has been on my mind for seven months and I am determined to get it off I have been taking money from the office where I work. I've done this for the past two years but I've always put it back before the end of the month. I am now so far behind I will never catch up. It would be difficult to catch me but that is not my problem. I would like to make a confession to my boss and make arrangements to pay it back if it takes me the rest of my life. I can't live like this any longer I am half-loaded right now or I wouldn't have nerve enough to mail this. Please tell me if you think I should take a chance on going to jail. My boss has been wonderful to me and I think he would understand.

GUILTY CONSCIENCE

DEAR GUILTY: You'll have no peace of mind until you settle this matter. Talk to your boss before he talks to you.

DEAR ABBY: I love my family dearly but they get me terribly embarrassed. Especially my mother who uses improper grammar. She says "SHE DON'T" instead of "SHE DOESN'T" and "YOU WAS" instead of "YOU WERE." Should I correct her or leave her say what she pleases?

RITA

DEAR RITA: Correct her in private . . . but don't LEAVE her say what she pleases in public . . . LET her say what she pleases.

DEAR ABBY: I am a very well to-do widow who is quite lonely and would like to meet some gentleman who isn't a gold-digger. My husband left me with three apartment buildings and six four-plex dwellings. I own one square block of commercial property in the center of town and have a 50-50 interest in a Used Car business. I have not touched my capital and don't intend to. How can I get a man? LONESOME

DEAR LONESOME: Don't put the cheese out where the rats can smell it. What else have you got to offer?

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and a Senior in High School. I worked last summer and have a serious problem. I fell in love with my boss. He's single and lives with his mother. He is considerate and very sensible. He doesn't want to see me hurt so he never takes me out in public although he says he loves me. You see he is 34 (twice my age) and it's gotten so that I can't sleep nights thinking about the next time we'll see each other. We've been dating secretly. Nobody (but you) knows about us. Is there any future in this for me? Please be honest.

LOVESICK

DEAR LOVESICK: Face the facts. He's too old for you, and if he were thoroughly decent he wouldn't be dating you secretly. Break off right now before you get into serious trouble. It only hurts for a little while.

"How can I get him to notice me?" Get ABBY'S booklet, "What Every Teenager Wants To Know." Send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY in care of this newspaper.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Muny Court Hears Intoxication Case

Two traffic cases, one for intoxicated driving, were handled in Circleville Municipal Court today.

The intoxication charge was against Guy L. Easter, 30, Route 1, Chillicothe. He was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months. City police made the arrest.

Orla O. Uhrich, 23, of 316 Logan St., was fined $10 and costs for failure to yield the right of way. The State Highway Patrol made the arrest.

Man in Court On Theft Count

James W. Waple, 811 S. Scioto St., was cited into Circleville Municipal Court today on an accusation of taking articles valued at $1.19 from the local A and P Store.

Waple was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail. The court suspended the fine and the jail sentence and imposed probation for six months.

The affidavit was filed by R. C. Kifer, manager of the local store.

Absent Voter Ballots Now Being Received

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown stated today that boards of elections are now receiving applications for civilian absent voter ballots for the May 5 Primaries from Ohioans located outside the continental United States.

Service men and women have had since January 1 to make applications for ballots and under the Ohio law, boards of elections were required to begin filling these applications on March 6.

Brown said that he prescribed the primary ballots early so that boards might have ballots printed early to fill these absentee voter requests.

If the requests coming to his office from armed service personnel is any criterion, however, little interest has been aroused so far, although applications are often made directly to the boards of elections.

* * *

THE PICKAWAY County Board of Elections has had no applications from civilians or service men or women for absent voter ballots for the May 5 Primary

Only two races will appear on the primary ballot. They are races for councilmen nominations for the general election in wards 2 and 3.

Conveyor Belt Plan Backed By Railroad

CLEVELAND (AP)—A proposal to construct a multi-million dollar conveyor belt system to carry ore from the lake front to the city's steel and iron making plants is under study.

The proposal was announced Wednesday night with support from an unexpected quarter—the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. long a foe of a proposed conveyor belt system linking Lake Erie and the Ohio River.

The announcement was made following a meeting between Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, J. M. Symes, president of the railroad and H. B. Stewart Jr., president of Riverlake Belt Conveyor Lines, Inc.

The railroad proposed use of its lakefront ore unloading facilities and its right-of-way through the Cuyahoga River Valley for construction of the conveyor belt system.

"This one makes sense for everyone concerned—and immediately." Symes said. "If it doesn't turn out to cost too much I feel certain it will be built, and soon."

Two routes for the belt system are being considered. Both would extend the belt line beyond the steel plants along the river to the Pennsylvania's yards in Bedford. There the railroad would load the ore into freight cars for shipment to steel plants in other areas.

One route would be completely above ground, following the railroad's right-of-way, and would total 17 miles. The other, running 12¾ miles, would be a combination tunnel and surface route.

Is Grandmother at 33

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio — Mrs. James Houchins is a grandmother at 33.

The Bellefontaine area mother has four daughters and three sons Tuesday, her eldest daughter Wanda, 17, gave birth to her first child, Rebecca Ruth, at Mary Rutan Hospital here. Wanda married when she was 15.

Mrs. Houchins was married when she was 14.

Father, Son Meet after 57 Years

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Eighty-year-old George Mayo hadn't seen his boy since the son was nine months old. That was 57 years ago.

Their reunion here Wednesday, climaxing a search of several weeks by the son, who had thought his father was dead, was a tearful joy for both.

The son, 58-year-old Leonard, learned three weeks ago that his father was alive and staying with a daughter in Fenton Lake, Mich.

Leonard said his mother had been separated from his father when he was an infant and always told him his father was dead

After years of doubt, Leonard wrote the postmaster in Bloomfield, Mo., where many of the Mayo family had settled. He was provided with the name of his father's brother, Mart V. Mayo of Bloomfield.

From him, Leonard learned of his father's whereabouts.

The reunion was delayed when the father was overcome with shock and had to stay in bed for a time.

George said he had tried to trace Leonard, but was hindered because he thought the boy had assumed the name Miller, the name of his first wife.

Oddly, until 1957 when Leonard moved to Toledo from Detroit, father and son had lived only 50 miles apart for several years.

Ohio Solon Raps Alaska Study Setup

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Ohio) says it's because of things like the Alaska International Rail and Highway Commission that the Canadian dollar is "worth 100 cents and ours is worth only 46 cents."

Criticizing commission plans to spend about $135,000 for a survey of Alaska's transportation needs, the Ohioan wanted to know why an outside firm had been hired instead of using services of the Interior Department which he said "knows every bit of Alaska."

Kirwan asked Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash), acting commission chairman, if Canada didn't plan to use its own personnel in cooperating with the program.

"They will use their department heads and I think they use them a little more efficiently than we do," Magnuson agreed.

"Certainly they do, and that is why their dollar is worth 100 cents and ours is only worth 46 cents," Kirwan replied. "Yet we hire someone to make this study who probably has never seen Alaska. We do not use people who know it backward and forward."

Magnuson emphasized that engineering data for the survey was readily available but that the study dealt primarily with economic data on which the commission received little help from the Interior Department.

Magnuson said no contract has been signel but that the commission has chosen the Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus, Ohio, to do the work.

FLAG DAZE—Approval of the congressional measure accepting Hawaii as a state in the United States put American flag manufacturers on a spot. The market for new 49-star flags marking entrance of Alaska into the Union came to an abrupt halt. Mrs. Ray Drexler holds a 50-star flag which might be the new banner's design. Her husband looks at the worthless, 49-star stock in their plant at Miami, Fla.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

It's Time To Come Clean

DEAR ABBY: This has been on my mind for seven months and I am determined to get it off I have been taking money from the office where I work. I've done this for the past two years but I've always put it back before the end of the month. I am now so far behind I will never catch up. It would be difficult to catch me but that is not my problem. I would like to make a confession to my boss and make arrangements to pay it back if it takes me the rest of my life. I can't live like this any longer I am half-loaded right now or I wouldn't have nerve enough to mail this. Please tell me if you think I should take a chance on going to jail. My boss has been wonderful to me and I think he would understand.

GUILTY CONSCIENCE

DEAR GUILTY: You'll have no peace of mind until you settle this matter. Talk to your boss before he talks to you.

DEAR ABBY: I love my family dearly but they get me terribly embarrassed. Especially my mother who uses improper grammar. She says "SHE DON'T" instead of "SHE DOESN'T" and "YOU WAS" instead of "YOU WERE." Should I correct her or leave her say what she pleases?

RITA

DEAR RITA: Correct her in private . . . but don't LEAVE her say what she pleases in public . . . LET her say what she pleases.

DEAR ABBY: I am a very well to-do widow who is quite lonely and would like to meet some gentleman who isn't a gold-digger. My husband left me with three apartment buildings and six four plex dwellings. I own one square block of commercial property in the center of town and have a 50-50 interest in a Used Car business. I have not touched my capital and don't intend to. How can I get a man? LONESOME

DEAR LONESOME: Don't put the cheese out where the rats can smell it. What else have you got to offer?

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and a Senior in High School. I worked last summer and have a serious problem. I fell in love with my boss. He's single and lives with his mother. He is considerate and very sensible. He doesn't want to see me hurt so he never takes me out in public although he says he loves me. You see he is 34 (twice my age) and it's gotten so that I can't sleep nights thinking about the next time we'll see each other. We've been dating secretly. Nobody (but you) knows about us. Is there any future in this for me? Please be honest.

LOVESICK

DEAR LOVESICK: Face the facts. He's too old for you, and if he were thoroughly decent he wouldn't be dating you secretly. Break off right now before you get into serious trouble. It only hurts for a little while.

"How can I get him to notice me?" Get ABBY'S booklet, "What Every Teenager Wants To Know." Send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY in care of this newspaper.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Muny Court Hears Intoxication Case

Two traffic cases, one for intoxicated driving, were handled in Circleville Municipal Court today.

The intoxication charge was against Guy L. Easter, 30, Route 1, Chillicothe. He was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months. City police made the arrest.

Orla O. Uhrich, 23, of 316 Logan St., was fined $10 and costs for failure to yield the right of way. The State Highway Patrol made the arrest.

Man in Court On Theft Count

James W. Waple, 811 S. Scioto St., was cited into Circleville Municipal Court today on an accusation of taking articles valued at $1.19 from the local A and P Store.

Waple was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail. The court suspended the fine and the jail sentence and imposed probation for six months.

The affidavit was filed by R. C. Kifer, manager of the local store.

Absent Voter Ballots Now Being Received

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown stated today that boards of elections are now receiving applications for civilian absent voter ballots for the May 5 Primaries from Ohioans located outside the continental United States.

Service men and women have had since January 1 to make applications for ballots and under the Ohio law, boards of elections were required to begin filling these applications on March 6.

Brown said that he prescribed the primary ballots early so that boards might have ballots printed early to fill these absentee voter requests.

If the requests coming to his office from armed service personnel is any criterion, however, little interest has been aroused so far, although applications are often made directly to the boards of elections.

* * *

THE PICKAWAY County Board of Elections has had no applications from civilians or service men or women for absent voter ballots for the May 5 Primary

Only two races will appear on the primary ballot. They are races for councilmen nominations for the general election in wards 2 and 3.

Conveyor Belt Plan Backed By Railroad

CLEVELAND (AP)—A proposal to construct a multi-million dollar conveyor belt system to carry ore from the lake front to the city's steel and iron making plants is under study.

The proposal was announced Wednesday night with support from an unexpected quarter—the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. long a foe of a proposed conveyor belt system linking Lake Erie and the Ohio River.

The announcement was made following a meeting between Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, J. M. Symes, president of the railroad and H. B. Stewart Jr., president of Riverlake Belt Conveyor Lines, Inc.

The railroad proposed use of its lakefront ore unloading facilities and its right-of-way through the Cuyahoga River Valley for construction of the conveyor belt system.

"This one makes sense for everyone concerned—and immediately." Symes said. "If it doesn't turn out to cost too much I feel certain it will be built, and soon."

Two routes for the belt system are being considered. Both would extend the belt line beyond the steel plants along the river to the Pennsylvania's yards in Bedford. There the railroad would load the ore into freight cars for shipment to steel plants in other areas.

One route would be completely above ground, following the railroad's right-of-way, and would total 17 miles. The other, running 12¾ miles, would be a combination tunnel and surface route.

Father, Son Meet after 57 Years

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Eighty-year-old George Mayo hadn't seen his boy since the son was nine months old. That was 57 years ago.

Their reunion here Wednesday, climaxing a search of several weeks by the son, who had thought his father was dead, was a tearful joy for both.

The son, 58-year-old Leonard, learned three weeks ago that his father was alive and staying with a daughter in Fenton Lake, Mich.

Leonard said his mother had been separated from his father when he was an infant and always told him his father was dead

After years of doubt Leonard wrote the postmaster in Bloomfield, Mo., where many of the Mayo family had settled. He was provided with the name of his father's brother, Mart V. Mayo of Bloomfield.

From him, Leonard learned of his father's whereabouts.

The reunion was delayed when the father was overcome with shock and had to stay in bed for a time.

George said he had tried to trace Leonard, but was hindered because he thought the boy had assumed the name Miller, the name of his first wife.

Oddly, until 1957 when Leonard moved to Toledo from Detroit, father and son had lived only 50 miles apart for several years.
